ST. ELIZABETH HOSPITAL . . . to be acquired by county.

County To Buy St. Elizabeth

. . . NURSING, CARE FACILITIES PLANNED AT OLD HOSPITAL

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday announced the purchase of the St. Elizabeth Hospital complex, 11th and South Sts., for use as a county nursing and care home facility.

The $530,000 purchase was the climax of more than a year's discussions of possible use of existing facilities to solve the county's increasing problem of shortage in nursing home space for the indigent.

The hospital has also agreed to accept 75 county patients for nursing care for a per patient cost within maximum limits until the county takes possession of the hospital when the new St. Elizabeth facility is completed, the board said.

Up To 300 Beds

The board said that the facility would allow for up to 300 beds for nursing and care home patients.

The commissioners said that $200,000 of the total purchase price for the 7 acres of land including buildings and personal property will be paid immediately out of land acquistion funds appropriated last year for the 1968-69 fiscal year budget.

Of the remaining $330,000 a total of $180,000 will be due at the time of possession of the complex not later than Sept. 1, 1970, and the other $150,000 on March 1, 1971.

According to County Board Chairman Kenneth Bourne, the next step will be to contract with some individual or firm to operate the facility for the county.

Someone Experienced

Lancaster County Commissioner William Grossman, who is hospitalized, had indicated earlier that if the county were to acquire an existing facility for a nursing and or care home, it would want to have someone experienced in nursing home operations to operate such a facility for the county.

Prohibitive costs of nursing home care and the responsibility the county felt it must assume for nursing home care for the indigent were the key factors in the decision to purchase the hospital, the commissioners said.

The county board also indicated that consideration is being given to utilization of the old portion of the complex for the county detention home and a detoxification center.

Nothing Definite

However, they said, nothing is definite for use of that wing and the nurses' residence, which has possibilities.

The commissioners pointed out that by the county's operation of its own nursing home facilities, it will be assured of receiving 80% reimbursement from state funds for patients.

They explained that as the law stands, if a county pays more than the $300 monthly maximum for nursing home care, it must pay the entire amount rather than just the 20%.

However, Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas said that the county, with its own operation, definitely would receive the 80% reimbursement from the state regardless of the total amount for care.

$210 to $230

Grossman had estimated that at the present costs, it will cost taxpayers an average between $210 and $230 per patient per month for patients in the new county operation, with the county paying 20% and the state 80%.

Lancaster County Welfare Director J. Earle Trabert told The Star that he was "very pleased" with the commissioners' action.

Trabert, who had proposed a year and a half ago the possible use of the former Lincoln General Hospital for a nursing home for county patients, said Tuesday that he felt that the St. Elizabeth facility had more potential than the former Lincoln General Hospital.

Detoxification Eyed

He said it would allow for operation of a detoxification center which is needed in the county.

Trabert said he plans to move about 10 Westview patients into St. Elizabeth Hospital immediately with a substantial saving to the county since the patients will qualify for Medicare there while the Westview facility does not qualify under Medicare standards.

He said that a further savings will be realized with the eventual move of all Westview patients into St. Elizabeth because the county will then receive state reimbursement for care while it

NU BUDGET HIKED $10 MILLION

SENATORS VOTE . . .

Food Stamp Money More Than Double

Washington (UPI) — The Senate Tuesday voted to more than double spending on the food stamp program in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Sent to the House on a voice vote with no "no" votes heard was a resolution raising the money authorized for the program from $340 million to $750 million.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., a leading critic of government efforts to help feed the nation's poor, called the money "woefully inadequate," but urged approval of the authorization as a temporary emergency measure until major reform can be carried out on the stamp program.

Sen. Holland Disagrees

Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., chairman of the agriculture appropriations subcommittee, disagreed with McGovern that the sum was inadequate. He said the Agriculture Department first had to prove that it could spend that much sensibly.

"The main problem we're dealing with is malnutrition — not hunger," Holland said, and added that he did not believe the government should "ever distribute food stamps without some contribution by the user."

The authorization resolution only established the upper spending limits for the program. The actual money for the program still must be approved in an appropriations bill.

McGovern Dissatisfied

McGovern, who led a year-long hunger investigation by a special Senate committee, said the emergency resolution "is no substitute for immediate action to pass a comprehensive food stamp reform bill."

McGovern inserted statistics into the Congressional Record showing that poor people do not participate as fully when a county switches from free commodity distribution programs to food stamps.

The stamps must be bought and then exchanged at a regular grocery for far more food than their purchase price would buy.

Program 'Failed Dismally'

"These documents," said McGovern "offer conclusive proof that the food stamp program has failed and failed dismally in its attempt to reach the poor of this nation."

He said the statistics showed the program reaches only 33% of the nation's counties and that in the counties where it does operate, stamps reach only 16% of the families which need them. "These figures are, very simply, a disgrace," McGovern said.

"They prove beyond the slightest doubt that drastic reform of the food stamp program is needed and needed now."

Full Reverse Made Before Evans Crash

Subic Bay, Philippines (UPI) — Seconds before it collided with the Australian carrier Melbourne, the U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans shifted its engines into full reverse in an apparent attempt to avoid the crash, testimony showed Tuesday.

Fireman Michael W. Peacock, 19, of Davenport, Iowa, told a six-man U.S.-Australian board of inquiry investigating the June 3 accident that the engine room received orders and executed "full back bell . . . within seconds" of the collision.

It was the first report in the panel's three weeks of hearings that the destroyer had attempted to slow down prior to the crash in which 74 American sailors lost their lives.

Peacock said the ship was operating at 22 knots before he received the order to go full astern.

Hershey Urges Plan To End Uncertainty

By DAVE ZIMMERMAN
Star Staff Writer

The nation's Selective Service director, Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, said Tuesday in Lincoln that much of the uncertainty among draft-age youth could be eliminated by the adoption of a plan under which every young man would undergo the physical and mental examinations given draftees.

Under such a plan, those among the 5% who are rejected would be able to plan their futures and the remainder would know they will most likely be drafted, he said.

Hershey was in Lincoln to address a dinner honoring Nebraska's longtime Selective Service director, Lt. Gen. Guy N. Henninger, who recently retired.

Henninger Honored

See Story on Page 18.

The subject of "uncertainty" about the draft was also broached in several other aspects by the longtime national director, who has been a continual target of draft protesters.

"I was brought up on the lottery system," Hershey said. But after a time, "we had no one left but 18-year-olds," he said, in explaining the problems of random selection.

On the question of a volunteer army, Gen. Hershey said he was "not the person to say they can't find a way it could be done," but he commented that more incentive would be needed before enough volunteers could be found.

A long-range plan, he said, would be for "the schools to teach them that they should serve."

Why Deferred

Conscription as a punitive measure against young radicals also came up and the general asked why someone should be deferred who is trying to keep others from enlisting in the armed services.

Hershey said he had told local draft boards they could use the draft against those who engage in "illegal activities."

Replying to an intimation that the draft is discriminatory towards the poor and blacks, Hershey said he "doubted" if that was true.

"I was a friend of the blacks for a long time before all these 'Johnny-come-latelies." Hershey said he had taken reference to race off Army induction forms "years ago."

The subject of war protests also referred General Hershey to his long service in the military.

"In 1916 no one thought we should be fighting Mexico and later I saw some of the same people in France who didn't think we should be fighting there."

"Today we have some who are doves in Vietnam and lions in the Middle East," he said.

"Perhaps we should have wars all over the world so people could take their choice," he joked.

On the question of his retirement, the 75-year-old general said it was not his decision. He said he may be relieved or forced to retire if his health should fail.

Of his health, he said, "I think it's fairly good. I'd like to have you young fellas follow me around for a day."

"As they say in the Marine Corps, they don't make them now like they used to," he laughed.

Rise In Living Costs Slows Down In May

Washington (UPI) — Consumer prices slowed their climb in May, but government economists predicted Tuesday that they would soon be rising rapidly again.

The consumer price index rose .03% in May, the smallest month-to-month increase since January when it also went up 0.3%.

The May index was 126.8 which meant that the same goods and services that cost $10 in the base years of 1957-1959 now cost $12.68.

Wholesale Prices Up

Preliminary estimates for June showed that the wholesale price index, bolstered by continuous large increases in the cost of farm products, increased 0.4%.

Despite the relatively modest increase in the consumer price index in May, "there's still pressure on prices," said Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

He predicted that the index would return to climbing faster in the future months.

The May cost of living was 5.4% above the May 1968 level. If the rate of gain from February to May were maintained throughout this year, the cost of living would go up 7.2%.

Used Cars Down

The May increase reflected higher prices for food, clothing and services. The only significant decline in May prices was a 3.5% drop in the price of used cars.

Food prices, which normally drop slightly in May, increased 0.4% with the cost of beef up 2.2%, pork up 1.1% and fresh vegetables up 4%. Since the base years of 1957-1959, the cost of food has risen 20%.

Medical care costs rose 0.6% during May with professional fees up 0.7% and hospital costs up 0.5%.

Mortgage interest charges increased 1%. Since May 1968, they have risen 25%.

The new statistics showed that beef prices have risen 9.2% since May 1968, pork 4.2% and fresh vegetables 3%. Chase said beef prices are 10% higher than they were during their peak in the Korean War.

New Building Funds Backed

. . . BOOST OKAYED 22-18

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Adding more than $10 million for new construction and land acquisition by the University of Nebraska, the Legislature Tuesday blew the Budget Committee's capital construction appropriations bill wide open.

Altogether lawmakers added $11,642,000 to the $14,355,455 in new general fund appropriations recommended by the committee.

Only $313,800 in additions had the committee's endorsement.

In one sweeping motion, approved on a 22-18 vote, lawmakers added the following major new projects for the university and, in the process, cut such a swath through the bill that all subsequent amendments prevailed:

—$4,850,000 for major library improvements at NU's downtown Lincoln campus.

—$1,925,000 for a new fine arts building at the University of Nebraska at Omaha.

—$60,000 for comprehensive campus planning at UNO.

—$2,500,000 for land acquisition and improvements at UNO.

—$1 million for land acquisition at NU's Medical Center in Omaha.

The latter two appropriations were added to the first three projects on a 24-18 vote before the $10,335,000 package was approved.

First Round OK

Following amendments, the bill, LB1425, now a $26 million proposal, won 30-2 first round approval. Voting nay were Sens. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha and Don Hanna Jr. of Brownlee.

Only Sens. John Knight and Fern Hubbard Orme, both of Lincoln, broke from the Budget Committee's position to support the additions.

Six committee members, including Chairman Richard Marvel of Hastings, opposed the additions. Sen. Florence Reynolds of Omaha did not vote.

Backed By County

All six Lancaster County senators supported the package. Eight of Douglas County's 12 lawmakers joined them, with only Batchelder dissenting.

The package, sponsored by Sens. Willard Waldo of DeWitt and Knight, was broadened at the urging of Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

Sen. William Swanson of Lincoln joined Knight in particularly stressing the need for library funding.

The committee's original $4,635,000 recommendation for the university included new funding for only one major structure — a home economics building on Lincoln's East Campus.

Tuesday's action did not affect that $2,240,000 project, funded through reallocated appropriations and $1,225,000 in new money.

Among other additions to the construction budget bill were:

—$638,400 for an activities and recreation building at the Beatrice State Home, accepted 16-9 on a motion by Sen. Fred Carstens of Beatrice.

—$75,000 for air conditioning of wards for the severely retarded at Beatrice, accepted 34-0 on Carstens' motion.

—$280,000 for construction of an arena at the Buffalo Bill Ranch at North Platte for reenactment of wild west shows as a tourist attraction, adopted 20-10 at the request of Sen. Ellen Craft of North Platte.

For Fairgrounds

—$152,600 for paving and installation of water pipes at the State Fairgrounds, recommended by the Budget Committee.

—$135,000 for the University to reflect changes in reappropriated funds, recommended by the committee.

—$26,200 for the Game and Parks Commission for acquisition of land at eight specific project sites recommended by the committee.

Drove Wedge

It was the university package, combining funds for Lincoln and Omaha campuses, which drove the wedge in LB-1425, a bill which previously had been a sacrosanct as the Budget Committee's operational appropriations proposal.

University regents lobbied in behalf of the amendments. Richard Herman of Omaha talked with senators in the back of legislature chamber throughout the day.

Carpenter said he met with regents almost until midnight Monday discussing proposed amendments.

Waldo told his colleagues that the costs of a "crash program" later would be greater than additional funding for NU structures at this time.

Marvel noted that the University received $15.8 million in construction funds during the 1965-67 fiscal biennium, and another $18 million this biennium.

Swanson said library facilities at Lincoln are "woefully inadequate" and a point of

Enemy Pours Shells On Besieged Ben Het

Saigon (AP) — Enemy artillery and mortar fire rained without letup Tuesday on besieged Ben Het after an allied convoy broke through and brought badly needed ammunition to that Special Forces camp.

The 42nd South Vietnamese Regiment moved into the area to take some of the heat off the camp in the central highlands, 280 miles northeast of Saigon, and to battle the 2,000 North Vietnamese who have surrounded it.

The enemy intent appears to be to eliminate or neutralize the camp, located only six miles from sanctuaries in Laos. But a government spokesman said: "The most important thing to remember is that we are free to launch operations and the camp is still there."

A U.S. spokesman said there were no reports of fresh fighting around the camp where government infantrymen backed by warplanes and artillery claimed 105 North Vietnamese soldiers were killed Monday.

Field reports said five South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 15 were wounded in a four-hour battle that centered about three miles northeast of the Green Beret camp, which has been under an artillery siege since the first of May.

It appeared that Monday's battle erupted as soldiers of the 42nd Regiment were providing road security for a convoy of ammunition-carrying trucks that punched its way into the camp late Monday. It was the first convoy to make it through in a week.

The defenders of Ben Het, Vietnamese civilian irregulars and their American Special Forces advisers, had been forced to rely on parachute drops for supplies.

West German Defense Minister Gerhard Schroeder was made a commander of the Grand Cross of Malta of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States. The honor was presented Tuesday by European section leader Leon G. Turrou, left.

Kerosene Poured Into Moon Rocket

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (UPI) — The Saturn 5 rocket was fueled Tuesday for its takeoff on America's historic Apollo 11 moon-landing expedition, now just three weeks away.

While astronauts Neil Armstrong, Michael Collins and Edwin Aldrin practiced in Apollo command ship and lunar landing spacecraft simulators, ground crews poured 209,000 gallons of kerosene into the first stage of the Saturn booster.

The fueling was a major step in preparing the rocket for the last major test before the July 16 blastoff. The full-scale countdown demonstration to clear the space machine for flight begins at midnight Thursday and lasts nearly a week.

When the practice countdown — which goes all the way to T-minus 9 seconds, when the Saturn's engines would ignite — is finished, the kerosene will be left aboard the booster for the start of the real countdown that will send the astronauts to plant the U.S. flag on the moon.

Four Dominate Aid

Washington (UPI) — Almost 90% of the administration's proposed $375 million U.S. military aid program will go to Nationalist China, South Korea, Greece and Turkey, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird disclosed.

Surtax Vote Delayed

Washington (AP) — House leaders, facing reports the income surtax extension faces likely defeat now, postponed a vote Tuesday night until July on the measure, keystone of President Nixon's anti-inflation policy.

The postponement gives time for more work on wavering House members and possibly for revision of the bill to shorten the time of the extension, include more tax reforms, or both.

Nixon asked for the 10% surtax to be continued until Jan. 1 and a 5% surcharge continued for six months more.

A group of House Democrats, who sought changes in the bill, has insisted that passage in its present form might kill chances for what they term loophole-closing this year.

The House is expected to be asked in the interim to act on stopgap legislation to continue the present withholding scale on wages while Congress completes action on the bill. Otherwise, withholding will drop automatically to the pre-surtax levels.

Israeli Pipeline Blown Up

© The New York Times

Jerusalem — An oil pipeline leading from the Haifa refinery, one of Israel's major industrial facilities, to a nearby port was blown up Tuesday, apparently by Arab saboteurs.

Explosives laid against a 12-inch line blew up just before 8 a.m., starting a fire that took five hours to extinguish and spreading a cloud of black smoke over the city.

Unlike most previous sabotage targets, the Haifa refinery complex is a prime economic facility rather than a civilian site. Arab guerrillas had appeared to be satisfied until now to create disruption and cause casualties in civilian areas rather than risk attacking military or industrial sites.

The fact that a heavily guarded industrial area was chosen may indicate an escalation in the struggle being waged by Arab guerrillas against Israel.

Rocket Expert Ley Dies

New York (UPI) — Willy Ley, the German-born rocket expert and adviser on the U.S. Apollo program who made the intricacies of space science understandable for the layman through his many books, died Tuesday, the apparent victim of a heart attack. He was 62.

Ley left Germany in 1935 shortly after Hitler came to power and later became a U.S. citizen.

He had been associated with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) and was planning to leave soon for the July 16 launch of Apollo 11 at Cape Kennedy, Fla.

Ley took great pride in this country's space accomplishments. His wife, Olga, who was with Ley when he died, said he was looking forward eagerly to next month's attempt by the United States to land the first man on the moon.

Vigorous Efforts To Block Otepka Defeated In Senate

Washington (AP) — The Senate beat back vigorous efforts to sidetrack the nomination of Otto F. Otepka to the Subversive Activities-Control Board and confirmed him by a lipsided 61-28 roll call vote Tuesday.

The vote came shortly after the Senate rejected 56 to 35 a motion by Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, to send the nomination back to the Senate Judiciary Committee which had recommended approval 12 to 3.

Otepka was nominated to the $36,000-a-year job by President Nixon March 20 to fill a term on the five-member board that expires Aug. 9, 1970. Supporters expect he will be reappointed to a full term.

Controversy has swirled around Otepka since 1963 when he was ordered dismissed as State Department chief security evaluator when his superiors accused him of unauthorized disclosure of confidential personnel files to the Senate internal security subcommittee.

Young told the Senate Otepka's appointment to the SACB was "an outlandish piece of political chicanery," and an insult to the American people.

"Let us hope this doesn't return us to the character assassination and witch-hunting of the Joe McCarthy era of the 1950s" Young said, referring to investigations by the late Sen. McCarthy of Wisconsin.

Senate Republican Leader Everett B. Dirksen of Illinois countered that Otepka "has been a tremendous public servant" who deserved the Senate's unanimous support.

Curtis, Hruska Vote For Otepka

Washington (AP) — Nebraska's Republican Sens. Carl Curtis and Roman Hruska, voted with the majority Tuesday to confirm the nomination of Otto F. Otepka to the Subversive Activities Control Board.

Fire Delays Warhead Output A Year

Washington (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission said Tuesday production of nuclear warhead components for U.S. missiles has been halted by a May 11 fire at a vital plutonium-handling plant at Rocky Flats, Colo.

A spokesman said Rocky Flats, one of eight interdependent AEC facilities in the weapons production complex, will be idled as far as production goes for the rest of 1969.

Plutonium is used in most nuclear warheads to trigger the atomic blast. Rocky Flats is the only plutonium processing plant in the AEC's warhead assembly line.

First Crippling Disaster

Despite the Rocky Flats shutdown, AEC and Pentagon officials insisted that the AEC will meet defense warhead deliveries as requested before the fire, first crippling disaster in the agency's history.

The Colorado facility, along with other AEC plants, had been preparing for volume production of new families of hydrogen warheads for American missiles. These include bombs for antimissile interceptors and for the new multiple-warhead Minuteman and submarine-launched Poseidon series.

Impact of the blaze went largely unpublished until recent publication of an AEC delegation's closed-door testimony May 20 before a Senate appropriations subcommittee.

$45 Million Needed

AEC leaders including Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman, appealed to the subcommittee of Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., for an extra $45 million to restore Rocky Flats to full operation.

Air Force Maj. Gen. E. B. Giller, assigned to the AEC, testified the weapons production schedule would be set back an undetermined length of time, perhaps as much as one year.

Byrd said, "I regard this as a serious situation,"

An independent fire investigation company has been seeking the cause of the blaze and checking on the possibility of sabotage but no results have been made public.

Officials said the fire occurred on a Sunday afternoon when few AEC employes were at work.

Pegler Dies; Typewriter His Weapon

Tucson, Ariz. (AP) — Westbrook Pegler, whose thorny prose and unfettered attacks on a host of targets made him one of the most controversial figures of his time, died Tuesday of congestive heart failure. He was 74.

The newspaper columnist underwent surgery last Wednesday for a colon resection. In September, 1966, he announced that he had undergone a successful operation for stomach cancer.

Pegler was a war correspondent, a sports writer, a winner of the Pulitzer Prize for reporting, the defendant in a libel suit by his one-time friend, writer Quentin Reynolds.

Pegler, a tall, beefy man, was cheered as a fearless defender of the American way of life, assailed as a character assassin and arch-reactionary.

He called Eleanor Roosevelt "The Gab;" her husband, President Franklin D. Roosevelt "Moosejaw." President Harry S Truman called Pegler "a guttersnipe."

He used his typewriter as other men have used a broadsword or a meat-axe.

Dr. Miller's Educational Efforts Receive Praise

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

"Floyd Miller means good schools."

That was Dr. R. L. Fredstrom's description of the former state commissioner of education at a testimonial dinner in Miller's honor here Thursday night.

And the idea was rephrased in dozens of ways as Gov. Norbert Tiemann, State Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, educators and friends acclaimed the 61-year-old native Nebraskan.

Miller, commissioner for seven years and a member of the State Department of Education for 23 years, was fired by the State Board of Education, climaxing months of conflict with a majority of the board.

Some 620 persons purchased tickets to the $5-a-plate dinner with some 17 state senators, two members of the state board — Frank Landis of Lincoln and Norman Otto of Millard — and the new state commissioner, Dr. Cecil Stanley, in attendance.

Miller was announced as the recipient of the first Richard Brown Memorial Award in recognition of his leadership and contributions in improving education in the state. The late Mr. Brown was the long-time executive secretary of the Nebraska State School Boards Association.

The Nebraska State Education Association, the Nebraska State Schoolmasters Association, the Nebraska Association of School Administrators joined the NSSBA in establishing the award.

Miller and his wife Hazel also were presented with a $500 check and several travel folders as a gift from those attending the dinner.

The governor declared that Miller had "upgraded education at all levels," and by his actions had "enhanced the stature of his job in the state."

NASA president Harold McClure of Kearney commended Miller for "showing leadership in education that Nebraska desperately needed."

McClure also noted that "if we had been as active in the last election as Dr. Miller has been in improving education for the satte, we wouldn't have had to be here tonight."

Responding to the praise and expressions of appreciation, Miller thanked all of his supporters and persons involved in "fighting the good fight." He noted that Archer Burnham, executive secretary emeritus of the NSEA, was a "real fighter for education."

Miller added that he also hoped everyone would "not forget the circumstances that brought us together tonight."

Miller's "courage to pursue educational goals, to stand for quality education" also was proclaimed by NSEA president Miss Ruby Lee of Grand Island, chairman of the Council on Teacher Education Dr. Paul Kennedy of the University of Nebraska at Omaha, president of the department of education council Larry Bonner and past president of the schoolmasters Dr. John Johnston of Kearney.

County's 1969 Valuation Passes $1-Billion Mark

A $38,321,015 increase in Lancaster County's actual value of real estate and personal property brought the 1969 total valuation over the $1 billion mark to $1,005,076,870 as compared to $966,755,855 last year.

The 1969 abstract of assessment, prepared and delivered to the State Tax Commissioner's office Tuesday by Lancaster County Assessor Fritz Meyer, shows an assessed valuation of $351,776,904. Assessed value represents 35% of actual value).

Meyer said most of this year's increase is due to new construction, since the county made no major changes in property valuations this year.

Rural real estate was down almost $1 million to $113,770,520 as compared to $114,866,935 last year, while urban property increased $28 million to $635,837,970, as compared to $607,776,480 for 1968.

Miscellaneous personal property showed a substantial increase with $84,735 worth listed this year as compared to $48,650 last year.

County To Acquire Old Hospital

ment. The physical structure receives nothing except what individual patients are able to contribute now.

Trabert said he has recommended that the new county facility, when it begins operation, allow for different levels of care on different floors.

He said he thought the portion of the facility to be used for nursing home patients would qualify for Medicare.

The commissioners indicated that how much would be used for nursing home or care patients would probably be determined by the individuals who operate the facility.

Registered Nurse

A nursing home must have a registered nurse on duty at all times while a care home doesn't have such a requirement. The physical structure restrictions for nursing homes are more strict than those for care homes.

Trabert said that, according to information he received from the state fire marshal, very little renovation would be necessary in the new east wing for use as a nursing home.

He said the west wing (older portion) must be sealed off and a sprinkler system added to one small area, but otherwise the structure meets standards.

The three-story wing built in 1952, which is the most recent addition to the hospital complex, is the area to be used for the nursing home facilities.

To Move In 1970

The move to the new facility at 70th and J by summer of 1970 will conclude more than 80 years of the hospital's operation at 11th and South.

St. Elizabeth Hospital opened at that location in 1889 and in 1891 a three-story wing was added and a third story was added to the original wing in 1901. In 1914 the hospital was further enlarged by a four-story addition.

In 1921 a chapel was added and in 1923 the second east wing was built.

Community Awards Sought By 147 Towns

Nearly 2,000 projects have been entered by 147 communities in the community awards contest segment of the 1969 Nebraska Community Improvement Program.

The communities are competing for $5,625 in prize money supplied by the contest sponsors, the 10 natural gas companies serving Nebraska.

The contest, in its fifth year, is designed to stimulate self-help projects in community development in communities under 30,000 population.

According to entry forms received by the Nebraska Division of State and Urban Affairs, the most popular project area this year is community facilities and public works.

Other project classifications are parks and recreation; beautification, business, industry and agriculture; and cultural, historical and patriotic. Communities can add additional projects until Aug. 1.

Two other separate competitions in the Community Improvement Program are the Special Program Awards Competition, which gives recognition to communities for outstanding improvement efforts in eight areas, and the All Nebraska Community Competition, which lists criteria for communities to meet and helps them set realistic improvement goals.

Knight suggested that the library is "the heart of any good university."

The $4,850,000 appropriation will permit the University to complete all its proposed library improvements at Lincoln except for remodeling of present Love Library facilities and the interior completion of two floors in the new five-story addition, Knight said.

An additional $1.8 million appropriation in the future would finish the entire project, he noted.

Two Alliance Escapees Back In Custody After Brief Break

Alliance (AP) — Two Alliance men were back in custody Tuesday following an escape from the Box Butte County sheriff's office.

Jimmy W. Howard and Karl Gerlick, both 20, fled Sunday after prisoners were moved to a first floor shower room when smoke was seen on the second floor, where the cells are located according to Deputy Sheriff Albert Peterson.

Peterson said he went upstairs to check on a trusty who had been sent to blow smoke from the cells with a fan and returned to find the two men missing.

Alliance police picked up Gerlick early Monday morning in an abandoned building in Alliance. He was subsequently charged in Box Butte County Court with escape from custody.

He had been held since Friday on charges of uttering a forged instrument and writing a no fund check. Bond was set at $1,000 on each charge.

Howard, who was found Monday afternoon in an abandoned garage, had been held since May 29 awaiting trial on two charges of burglary, Peterson said.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Lincoln business and educational leaders have met and discussed LB979, which would establish eight community college districts throughout the state. A community college district would include both academic and vocational education.

The bill is one that has been widely discussed throughout the state. Generally speaking, most objection has come on the basis of geographic organization and that could be the hub of Lincoln and Lancaster County's argument.

Lancaster County is in a 17-county area that stretches from Boone County in the north to Richardson County in the south. Lincoln interests expressed favor with an amendment that would put Lancaster in an area of its own.

We have noticed in other newspapers throughout the state considerable argument with the geographic makeup of the areas. If the approach envisioned in LB979 is ever to prevail, the Legislature will largely have to ignore such objections.

The fact is that state senators could never divide up the state in a manner in which all areas would be happy. Why, for instance, should Lincoln and Lancaster County be unhappy with their designation?

The answer is simple — they want to do things themselves and want neither the assets nor liabilities of association with a larger area. This is selfish on their part, of course, since they figure such an association would involve more liabilities than assets.

Also, Lincoln has a strong primary and secondary school system and it would like to be the brains and management behind any community college in the city. Under LB979, the community college would be under a separately elected board.

★

Thus, a community college in Lincoln would be subject to control by a board whose members lived as far away as Boone and Richardson Counties. Beyond that, every area district is subject to a state board with final authority in many matters.

Now, Lincoln and Lancaster County might understandably not want this, but that is not the question. The question is whether we can and how we can provide academic and vocational education for the young people who need it.

This is education beyond or apart from that provided at the University of Nebraska or any other state or private college. To our way of thinking, the areawide organization is a good approach.

The program includes substantial state aid to the districts — aid which might run as high as 40 to 50 per cent of the total costs. It provides an organizational structure in which needless duplication and competition can be curtailed, and this is important.

★

Where local property tax funds are needed, the area approach provides a tax base that is broad enough to get the job done. If that means one small area is helped some by being in with another larger area, so what?

Isn't it about time we put aside our parochialism and approached things from the point of view of the welfare of all the children of the state? We have constantly hamstrung ourselves in Nebraska in educational matters by one selfish hangup after another and this simply has to stop.

We are not saying that LB979 as it stands today is the best it could be in many respects. Perhaps it can be amended still more and improved some but not unless we look to the interest of the young people we should want to serve.

The bill offers a practical and effective program of needed education and should be supported statewide, not picked apart for the sake of special privilege and advantage.

Appropriations Cut On Home For Veep

WASHINGTON — Spiro Agnew, like most vice presidents, continues to get the hairy end of the political lollipop. The House Appropriations Committee has just knocked out $150,000 of preliminary money to build a permanent residence for the VP.

Just before the committee voted behind closed doors, Rep. Joe Evins, D-Tenn., joshed Republican members.

"The motion to strike out the $150,000 comes from the minority side, from Mr. Bow," said Evins. "This is very interesting, because it will affect Vice President Agnew, a Republican, who is now in office. Perhaps our Republican colleagues don't expect him to serve more than this one term."

"Oh, no, we are confident he will be in for two terms," spoke up Rep. Frank Bow of Ohio.

"But this project has been planned for years," said Evins. "Building a home for the vice president is a good investment for the taxpayers, not a waste of money. The vice president has a lot of official duties, such as receptions, entertainment and so on. An official home for him will take some burdens off the President."

"Oh, we have a great respect and affection for our vice president," replied Bow. "It's just that we love economy more."

☆ ☆ ☆

This and a slash in HUD funds for slum clearance are the most interesting cuts the committee made.

The public didn't know about it, but prior to this, Vice President Agnew also had his "transition" funds slashed to the tune of $50,000 by Nixon himself.

"Transition" money is voted by Congress for both the outgoing president and the incoming president. It totaled $375,000 for Nixon and $75,000 for Agnew; with similar amounts for both LBJ and Vice President Humphrey — a total of $900,000 to switch Washington from Democratic to Republican control.

Prior to inauguration, however, Nixon had spent $425,000, not $375,000 as allotted him by Congress. So the President-elect dipped into the funds of his vice president by $50,000 to make up the difference.

Outgoing President Johnson, on the other hand, with $375,000 to spend, actually spent only $52,000 making the transfer of his papers and family to private life. So the House Appropriations Committee has now extended the time that LBJ has to spend the remaining $323,000 from July 20 of this year to June 30, 1970.

In other words, Johnson was voted not more money but more time to spend the previously voted money.

Council Should Look To Priorities

The City Council would be most unwise if it set precedent by yielding to pressures exerted by West O St. interests and authorizing the installation of a traffic signal at West O St. and Capitol Beach Blvd. ahead of higher priority intersections. We are not saying the intersection does not deserve signalization, but others are in greater need of traffic control systems.

West O area residents have continued to press for a signal, even a temporary signal; the latest effort coming at the council meeting Monday. The Lakeview PTA and the area businessmen's association have also offered to donate up to $1,000 for the project. The question involved here is, should the city sell its police powers?

There are instances when the development of new commercial enterprises have greatly increased traffic volumes, thus requiring street and traffic control improvements and the city requires the developer to pay his share of the bill. But as a rule, the installation of signals or signs at intersections should be done according to priorities set by city departments and paid for out of the city budget because the program is for the good of the community as a whole.

Even if it does not accept the offer of the West O groups, the council has indicated it may favor the installation of a signal system at West O and Capitol Beach Blvd. If it does, it will be going contrary to the evaluations prepared by the city traffic engineering department and the State Highway Department. City Traffic Engineer Robert Holsinger said flatly, "Other intersections are in far greater need of traffic signals."

The priority list of intersections without traffic signal systems — devised by considering factors such as traffic volume, accidents, side-street entrances and others — includes 30 intersections of higher priority than West O and Capitol Beach. Among them, in priority order, are listed 40th and South, 33rd and A, 56th and A, 40th and A, 27th and J, 33rd and Cornhusker and 27th and Y. Holsinger said that West O and Capitol Beach needs channelization — to prevent rear-end collisions — more than signalization. Both should come, but according to priority.

While Millions Die

Currently running in The Lincoln Star is a New York Times series on the war in Biafra. Some people might wonder why we are running this lengthy series of articles.

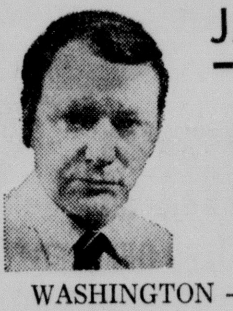
We are running the series so that the people may understand the nature of the struggle for freedom that is being waged in this remote part of Africa. We are running it in an effort to make people realize that there are tremendous hardship and suffering in the world and that we have an interest in them.

We have an interest in Biafra because millions of human beings are dying there. We have an interest in the area because we should have a concern for mankind throughout the world.

We are hearing more and more these days that this nation ought to mind its own business, that we should let other nations settle their own problems. The popular phrase is that we cannot be the world's policeman.

Maybe so, but we are an important part of the world and an influential part. If we do not bring our weight to bear on the side of justice, compassion and humanity, we can expect some day to reap the harvest of our indifference — a world turned against us in frustration or in the form of an aggressive dictatorship.

Biafra is important because people are needlessly dying there and we have lost our humanity if this is of no concern to us. Without such concern, we become a modern-day Marie Antoinette.



JAMES RESTON

Nixon Moving Objectively Toward War's End; Consensus, Good Start For His Administration

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon has now been in the White House for five months. His statements and his style have been analyzed down to the last comma and gesture, but the main things are what he has done and not done, and by this test, he has made a cautious, moderate and good beginning.

The capital is now buzzing with his silly attack on former Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford, who suggested withdrawing all United States ground troops from Vietnam by the end of 1970, but what is important is not that he attacked Clifford's record in the past but that he agrees with Clifford's objective of getting out of Vietnam as soon as possible.

Nixon has concentrated in these five months on ending the war, controlling the inflation, and moving toward a world accommodation with the Soviet Union. He has not said anything very useful about the racial and social conflicts within the nation but unless he can end the war, control the inflation and negotiate a reasonably safe reduction in the defense budget, he obviously cannot find the money to deal effectively with the economic and social problems on the home front.

Meanwhile, he has not acted in the White House like the military hawk he was in the old days. His economic decisions have not conformed to the wishes of the Republican conservatives who helped finance his victorious presidential campaign. His appointments have not been political or ideological. He has put together a cabinet of decent, dull, but competent modern pragmatists who may not be very imaginative but who are more interested in the facts and the national interests than in the conservative theories or political interests of the Republican party.

This is not a bad record for a President who was elected by a minority of the voters, has a Democratic majority against him in the Congress, and is under savage pressure by the rising conservative forces in the country to "win" the war, and put the militant blacks and students "in their places."

Nixon has, of course, said a lot of things that please the Hawks, the Republican conservatives, and the authoritarians who want to be militant in Vietnam and on the campuses and in the cities, but has acted prudently and stuck to his priorities on ending the war, controlling the inflation and moving toward an accommodation with Moscow on the control of military arms and the reduction of military budgets.

Even his support of the anti-ballistic missile system, which looked so hawkish, was probably a move toward an arms control accommodation with the Soviet Union.

The President cannot be as precise as Clifford in saying publicly that we should take 100,000 men out of Vietnam this year and all the rest of the ground troops out next year. It is easier to write a magazine article than negotiate a policy, but the tendencies of policy are more important than the statements of policy, and one has the impression that Nixon's acts and tendencies, whatever the ambiguities of language in a news conference, have brought us in these first five months of his administration to the beginning of the end of the war.

This analysis, of course, may be wrong. There are still powerful forces in this government who oppose the withdrawal of American forces from Vietnam. Indeed, there are many powerful men who believe that such course would be a betrayal of all the sacrifices that have been made in that tragic country, and therefore that we should stick and fight to the end, whatever that may be. Also, nobody can be sure, not even Secretary of State William Rogers, Presidential Aide Henry A. Kissinger, or Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, what the President really intends to do.

All anybody has at this point are impressions. But one has the clear impression that Nixon's first priority is to get out of the war — with the agreement of the South Vietnamese if possible, without it if necessary — but that he cannot say this publicly without making the problem of withdrawing even more difficult than it is.

It will take a lot of guile to withdraw without admitting defeat and being vulnerable to political attack. Accordingly, it would be unfair to attack both Nixon's objective of withdrawal and his guile in zig-zagging toward that goal.

He is trapped in the dilemma of trying to achieve an objective he cannot quite admit but at least he seems to have decided on the objective of getting out in these first five months, and those of us who believe this is the most important objective of public policy have to admire his sense of priorities and give him room to maneuver toward his objective.

TOM WICKER

Turnabout Among Liberals

WASHINGTON — Sen. Frank Church of Idaho is generally considered a liberal Democrat; and the most distinguishing feature of a liberal Democrat in recent decades has been that he believed in a strong federal government — hence, necessarily, in a powerful presidency.

But Church took the Senate floor the other day to criticize, among other things, Franklin Roosevelt's World War II "Destroyer Deal," the manner in which Harry S Truman put American forces into the Korean War, and the theory of a bipartisan foreign policy. The Roosevelt and Truman actions have been cited for years as splendid examples of the "strong presidency" in action; and bipartisanship on foreign policy obviously tends to strengthen the hand of whatever president may be conducting the policy.

Church was speaking in favor of the "National Commitments Resolution," and the strange circumstances surrounding this document are not limited to the fact that it was devised by liberals to restrain presidents; its lead opponent is that pillar of Republican conservatism, Everett Dirksen, playing a most unfamiliar role as a defender of presidential power.

The resolution expresses the sense of the Senate that "a national commitment by the United States to a foreign power necessarily and exclusively results from affirmative action taken by the executive and legislative branches" — for instance, a treaty or some other such "legislative instrumentality." Its intent is to restrain a president from making a commitment on his own to some foreign government, then claiming it as a "national commitment" that has to be honored by Congress.

This resolution springs unquestionably from the Vietnam experience — an obscure "commitment" first made by President Eisenhower to the Diem regime in 1956, extended by President Kennedy, then transformed by President Johnson into a major war. The Tonkin Gulf resolution, in which Congress carelessly voted President Johnson a blank check it did not expect him to use, added an extra sting to the experience.

But even the resentments and disillusionments of the Vietnam years would hardly cause men with a broad outlook on the world, such as Church and J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, to vote to "tie the president's hand" in the conduct of foreign affairs; they know well that under the Constitution, all American presidents who wanted to exercise it have had such a strong hand in foreign policy that Woodrow Wilson could say that it was virtually unlimited.

In fact, the commitments resolution — upon which the Senate soon will vote — will not tie any president's hands because he still would have exclusive power to act in any real national emergency, and because at other times the Senate would have no power of enforcement. Resolution or no resolution, presidents will go on conducting American foreign affairs largely as they see fit, as long as the Constitution makes it possible and practicalities make it necessary.

The resolution might, however, put President Nixon and perhaps his successor on notice that at least this Congress and maybe its successor (things being as cyclical as they are) are in a mood to be much tougher on the whole question of national commitments — making a strong protest when, for example, promises are made to Spain that seem out of all proportion to the value of American bases there; or conducting determined investigations of other dubious American involvements abroad. This kind of sentiment is strong already in Congress, and the debate on the resolution may well generate more.

Perhaps there might be developed, too, a more questioning public attitude toward national commitments. Does any government, no matter how inept or reactionary, deserve American assistance if its only virtue is anti-communism? Obviously not, but then what is the American role in the world? What kind of assistance can we usefully offer? To whom and under what circumstances?

Not only the people and Congress but presidents themselves need to ask such questions more urgently and answer them more thoughtfully; and if pointed Senate action makes presidents think long and hard before making far-reaching commitments, so much the better.

The Senate resolution is interesting, moreover, in that it seems to signal a new reliance by liberals on congressional responsibility, a sharp departure from the old attitude of investing more and more power in a presidency already too nearly out of control for comfort.

David's Job

Lincoln, Neb.

I noticed the picture of David Eisenhower, who will be working for Senator Hruska now in Washington.

How touching. There are hundreds of really bright young men in Nebraska who would love to work in Washington for the summer, but no! Senator Hruska has all the Republicans in Nebraska sewed up so he can go right ahead and try to please the big money boys and make a place for our fast growing royalty.

Why not give the jobs to young people who work for a living, and whose parents have worked to send them through high school and beyond?

This Eisenhower boy is going on his grandfather's name — long trips with the Nixons — long luxury weekends in Florida — and now a "job", probably answering the telephone! Congressional recesses and short weeks.

David will collect a nice piece of taxpayers' money for a few weeks of sitting in Hruska's office, if indeed he even reports for work on any kind of a schedule.

Woman Alone

Lincoln, Neb.

I recently spent three weeks looking at approximately 50 houses or apartments up for rent throughout the city of Lincoln. In nearly every case, the landlord denied renting to me or balked at renting to me because I am a divorcee with a child. Those who would rent were landlords of decidedly ramshackle places, too high-priced for their ill repair.

I was asked if I were on ADC, if I intended to house men in the dwelling, and told that their wives, or aunts, or mothers would be angry with them if they rented to me.

Finally I began asking to view places, identifying myself as a woman alone with her child while her husband was serving in Vietnam. Suddenly I received tremendous cooperation and offers of slight rent cuts. What is this? Certainly the physical circumstances are the same — a lone woman and child seeking a dwelling.

Yes, Lincoln is a wonderful city and its residents are patently discriminating. I shall remember it always.

Beatrice Home

Wymore, Neb.

I will go along with the letter, "Right to Defend." It may not be the best, but it may wake up the vandals and those who commit all the crimes. As far as the matter of hunters and "no trespassing" signs, if the signs are posted, the hunters are breaking the law. But I don't believe a farmer would kill someone for this, unless the trespasser were killing his livestock, and this is done all the time.

Now, in regard to the Beatrice home, how true it is that Senator Pedersen should work at the home or, better yet, make a check and find out just how many parents would keep their children who are mentally retarded at home of a night or any other time. But if he can prove that enough would care to keep them home at night, then I'd say, put them closer to these homes, but with the understanding that they are never to be put back in the mental institutions again. I'm afraid Senator Pedersen would be surprised what a few would agree to this.

The retarded patients at the Beatrice State Home want for nothing. Anyone could spend a few days at the home and know this is true. Most of them are happy there and could never get along outside the home.

Joint City-County Budgets Given Unanimous Approval

Lincoln City Council members and Lancaster County commissioners Tuesday unanimously approved the three budgets involving joint city-county operations.

The three budgets, all for the 1969-70 fiscal year, include appropriations of $434,228 for the City-County Health Dept., $243,853 for the City-County Planning Dept. and $44,743 for the Lincoln-Lancaster County Civil Defense agency.

The health department budget was cut during the meeting, but the other two were approved as submitted.

Balked At 10%

City and county officials balked at paying a 10% across-the-board salary increase to clerical help and dentists who work part time at the dental clinic.

They settled on salary increases of 5% for clerical help, but decided against the 10% increase for dentists as proposed by the health board.

The approved budget of $434,228, however, is some $60,741 more than the 1968-69 budget.

Salary Hike

The appropriation includes funds for a 10% across-the-board increase in professional salaries, hiking the total account from $288,446 to $333,003 for 1969-70.

The budget also includes an $8,000 increase for capital expenditures, all of which is to go for purchase of office furniture and dental equipment.

Some $1,000 was added to the proposed budget and tagged for consultant services for developing a new accounting system for the health department.

Federal Aid

The planning department appropriation of $243,753 includes $61,000 in federal aid and staff time.

Most of the increase of $110,000 over the current fiscal year goes for professional services for which federal aid is available.

Retained in the proposal was $10,000 for consulting fees for a review of the comprehensive plan for community development.

It was pointed out that the review will consider basic concepts, goals and proposals of the comprehensive plan and attempt to determine those areas where changes are needed.

No Update

Planning Director Douglas Brogden said in a report accompanying the budget proposal that updating the plan would not be included in the review.

The budget also includes funds for an urban renewal administrator, consultant services on urban renewal and for a community renewal plan — all for use if the city embarks on an urban renewal program.

The Civil Defense budget of $44,743 compares with $46,994 for the current fiscal year.

Although the budget is a decrease from this year, the city's and county's share increases from $12,573 to $15,828 due to a decrease in federal funds.

City Councilwoman Mrs. Helen Boosalis said she objected to the amount of money spent for the director and deputy director of the Civil Defense agency and urged the officials to take a "good look" at operations with an eye toward making a cut in administrative salaries during the 1970-71 fiscal year.

She questioned whether both a director and a deputy are needed, since Civil Defense operations have been fully established.

She suggested that the director's salary be cut in half and that he spend less time on the job. The director is paid $9,230 and is a part-time official.

Serious Crime Dips Here

Serious crime in Lincoln decreased in five of seven categories during the first three months of 1969, according to figures released Tuesday by Attorney General John Mitchell and made available through the FBI's uniform crime reports.

Serious crime in the United States, however, continued its upward trend recording a 10% rise nationally for the first quarter of 1969, as compared to the same period in 1968.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover noted that each crime classification in the national crime index showed increases.

Lincoln, however, showed increases in only two categories — murder and robbery, with murders up from one in the first quarter of 1968 to two this year, and robberies up from four to seven.

Other categories for Lincoln (with 1968 figures in parentheses): forcible rapes, 3 (6); aggravated assaults, 26 (31); burglaries, 137 (152); larcenies $50 and over in value, 146 (207); and auto thefts, 44 (72).

Cities with populations of 100,000 to 250,000 recorded a total increase of nine per cent in serious crimes.

Few Bidders At Jail Auction

Public auction Tuesday of items from the old Lancaster County Jail attracted only a few bidders and netted $361.55.

The rolled-top desk used in the jailor's office brought the highest price of $115.

Other items sold included tables, chairs, bunks, bathroom fixtures and an old safe which the purchaser said he planned to convert to a liquor cabinet.

Proceeds from the sale, from which the auctioneer receives 20%, will be added to proceeds from sale of items from the old Courthouse to go toward cost of demolition of the old structures.

Denmark Limits Gun Distribution

Copenhagen (UPI) — Submachine guns and ammunition will no longer be distributed to private members of the Danish Home Guard under the age of 21, Defense Minister Erik Ninn-Hansen said Tuesday.

He said the policy change was made because of three killings within the past year by teen-age home guards supplied with submachine guns.

Dr. Klemme Says Public Education Now Requires 50% More Financing

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Public education is close to the point of having its existence threatened, an Omaha corporation executive told some 300 Nebraska school administrators and principals here Tuesday.

"Public education requires 50% more financing that it gets," declared Dr. Randall T. Klemme, vice president of Northern Natural Gas Corporation, addressing the summer conference of the Nebraska Association of School Administrators.

Klemme pointed out that schools are "not communicating educational needs to the public."

He promised that schools would have the support of big business to bring budgets from the two-thirds funding level to meeting 100% of the needs if educators and business leaders can learn to understand each others' problems.

The administrators were told that every school district needs a "working advisory group" of community leaders who would be involved in school decisions on a continuing basis.

Such an advisory group, Klemme said, should be composed of persons who would not be interested in election to the school board. These advisors would have time to take the "long-range look" at problems and policies that school board members often don't have, he added.

The schools, it was noted, should look to the community for advice on determining more efficient use of the school facilities and manpower and on redesigning the educational product to be more relevant to today's needs.

Klemme also called for "substantially shifting the tax burden from a property base."

He contended that "much of the opposition to higher school levies is not from businessmen but from the property owner whose single greatest source of investment in his home."

In several sessions slated for discussion on the school administrator as a political activist, the educators were repeatedly urged to get involved in taking leadership for shaping educational decisions at all levels of government.

Not At Statehouse

Omaha Westside Supt. Vaughn Phelps stressed that the "best time to affect legislation is not Lincoln at the Statehouse."

The time to support educational policies is "at the time that you are helping pick people who will run for office," Phelps declared.

He warned the administrators, as they divided into discussion groups to consider organization for local political activity, that "the state primary election of 1970 is only 11 months away."

Phelps urged the educators to get involved in the election of state senators as well as local and state school board members.

In an effort to meet the need for a full-time spokesman for school administrators, primarily in legislative matters, three of the four groups attending the conference approved an umbrella organization of school supervisors and administrators.

The proposed group, yet unnamed, would include NASA, the Department of Elementary School Principals, the Association of School Curriculum Specialists and the Nebraska Association of School Business Officials. All but the business officials approved the organization in voting Tuesday.

$50,000 Budget

Under the proposal, administrators would pay dues to the umbrella organization which would then distribute a portion to the separate organizations. The umbrella program would require a $50,000 budget and employ an executive secretary.

Legislature Speeds Welfare Bill Action

Pressed for time, Nebraska's Legislature brought a welfare bill needed to qualify for certain federal aid to dependent children funds out of suspension and moved it within a step of final passage Tuesday.

LB514, which authorizes the Department of Welfare to disregard certain income of families receiving ADC as a work-incentive and strikes residency requirements, must be passed by July 1 for Nebraska to qualify for federal funds, sponsoring Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff said.

The law is required to conform to federal law, he said.

The bill had been given first round approval but was locked on the select file list for later consideration with other bills which will have "fiscal impact."

Carpenter said the measure will cost the state $1.1 million over the next two years, but will attract over $2 million in federal monies.

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, chairman of the Budget Committee, said he thinks the Legislature has no other alternative but to approve the bill.

"Otherwise, we'll be in deeper trouble," he said.

Douglas County Measure Axed

After receiving little trouble in its travel through the Legislature, a bill to establish a civil service system for Douglas County employes was killed Tuesday after a bare minimum of discussion on a 21-14 vote.

Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter's only comment on the bill when he made the kill motion was that "it isn't needed."

State Sen. William Skarda of Omaha, who had introduced LB784, because he said the employes needed "protection," opposed the motion by saying only "I've tried my best and there is no more need to talk about it."

Corrections Act Is Reviewed For Probation Officers

An interpretation of the governor's 51-page omnibus treatment and corrections act was presented by co-author Harvey Perlman Tuesday at a training seminar for the Nebraska District Probation Officers Association.

In essence, LB1307 creates a division of corrections within the Department of Public Institutions to unify the state correctional system under the director of corrections, and creates a new board of parole as approved at the polls last November.

The measure, which remains in general file in the Legislature, would also continue the present board of pardons, made up of the governor, attorney general and secretary of state, to handle pardon and clemency cases.

Help Write Bill

Perlman, a University of Nebraska Law College professor, helped draw up the bill at the request of the governor's crime commission.

The need for more meaningful and comprehensive handling of offenders was realized, said Perlman, when a 1967 study of parole methods showed that only three other states had a smaller percentage of parolees, and that Nebraska in 1964 released only 20% of its inmates on parole, compared to a 64% average in all other states.

In further considerations, Perlman said, it was necessary to take into account that parole is only one aspect of correction.

Thus a comprehensive legislative change was needed which also considered the necessity of having quality officials who would remain as "flexible as possible" in their handling of individual cases, he explained.

The bill would stipulate that every prisoner would be reviewed by the board of parole every year.

Perlman said that the changeover would mean that all felons released from prison would remain on parole for varying periods.

A man facing the bench could be given an immediate sentence, with a minimum and maximum term; be put on probation immediately; or be confined for 90 days while his sentence or parole is considered.

Harris Fears Nixon Wants To Pull Voting Rights' Teeth

©The New York Times

By E. W. KENWORTHY

Washington — Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, the Democratic national chairman, expressed fear Tuesday that President Nixon would seek "to take the teeth out of the Voting Rights Act" when it comes up for renewal.

Harris said in an informal talk with reporters that if Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell did not support extension of the 1965 act, which expires in August, 1970, and sought to have its provisions weakened, then this would be "the most regressive step that this administration proposes."

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican leader, who played a principal role in framing the final version of the act, said the administration was confronted with "a fine legal problem" in the extension of voting rights legislation. A study was being conducted, Dirksen said, "to be sure if the President made something of a promise" on the subject of voting during the campaign, so that the administration's legislation could conform to it. Dirksen did not say to whom such a promise might have been made, or whether he meant a public or private commitment.

Registration Increased

Over the last four years, the voting rights act has been primarily responsible for increasing Negro registration in the South from about 30% of eligible Negro voters to more than 60%.

Harris noted that Mitchell had broken five appointments to testify before the House civil rights subcommitte on what the administration planned to do.

When Mitchell canceled the fifth appointment last Thursday, Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., gave him a sixth and last chance to appear Thursday.

In an obvious allusion to the pressure that southerners — particularly Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., have been putting on Nixon to weaken the voting rights act, Harris said, "I'm afraid it (the administration) has the wrong kind of advisers and is trying to buy immediate popularity."

Harris did not specify what changes the administration was expected to propose to mollify southerners, saying only that he understood it would propose extension of the act but "without the sanctions" that have facilitiated enforcement.

However, Republican sources on Capitol Hill disclosed that the changes Mitchell has in mind would deal with the very core of the Voting Rights Act contained in Sections 4 and 5.

Literacy Tests Banned

Section 4 requires the suspension of literacy tests and other devices used to restrict voting of Negroes and poor whites (such a familiarity with the state constitution) in those states and counties where less than 50% of the voting age population was registered on Nov. 1, 1964, or voted in the 1964 presidential election.

This provision encompassed Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, Louisiana, South Carolina, Virginia and 26 counties in North Carolina.

Southerners have contended that the act was discriminatory because it singled out the seven states. Since the act also authorized the attorney general to send examiners, or registrars, into any of the affected counties from which he received 20 or more complaints of denial of voting rights, southerners have argued that the federal government was in effect financing partisan politics. The basis of this charge was that most of the enfranchised Negroes voted Democratic in national elections.

Proposal Opposed

To meet southern complaints, Mitchell will propose banning literacy tests throughout the nation. There are 20 states in all with literacy tests. This proposal, which had been disclosed earlier, is opposed by civil rights groups because they believe it will divert the limited manpower resources of the Justice Department from the states where discrimination has been greatest.

Section 5 of the Voting Rights Act was designed to prevent the imposition of new discriminatory practices in states where literacy tests had been banned. It provided that no new voting qualifications could be imposed unless approved by a three-judge district court in the District of Columbia, or unless the attorney general interposed no objection.

Mitchell, it was learned Tuesday, has decided in the last few days to propose changes in this "pre-clearance" requirement that would effectively nullify it.

Peru To Give Private Land To Peasantry

Lima (UPI) — The Peruvian government announced Tuesday it will expropriate all major land tracts now privately owned and divide them among the people, including vast lands owned by such U.S. investors as the W. R. Grace Co. and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

President Juan Velasco Alvarado promised "just compensation" for all land holders, both foreign and Peruvian, whose properties will be turned over to the peasantry under an agrarian land reform of unprecedented scope.

Velasco announced in a national television address the general objectives of the land reform program that will affect untold millions of dollars worth of U.S.-owned as well as Peruvian-held property.

Governors Slated To Discuss ETV

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann and Gov. Frank Farrar of South Dakota will discuss with officials of the two states' educational television networks continued cooperative programming arrangements, Tiemann's office reported Tuesday.

Farrar was scheduled to visit Tiemann Wednesday but the trip was postponed because of plane difficulties.

The visit Wednesday would have marked the first anniversary of the Nebraska-South Dakota interconnection — a one-way, off-air connection between KXNE at Norfolk and KUSD at Vermillion, S.D.

Officials of the two ETV networks see this cooperative programming as the first step toward regional interconnection, Tiemann's office said.

It said the interconnection between the states save money in the production process and is one of the first experiments of its type in the Midwest.

Boy, 5, Fair; Car's Wheel Injures Chest

A Lincoln child was listed in fair condition at Lincoln General Hospital Tuesday night following an accident in which the wheel of a rolling Car passed over his chest.

Police said that 5-year-old John R. Hitz, son of Richard D. Hitz of 3845 So. 15th, was riding a bicycle south on 15th between Stockwell and Burnham when he passed the residence of Marvin Kempkes of 3912 So. 15th, whose three-year-old son Greg had just released the brake on a car parked in the driveway.

The car rolled into the street and hit the Hitz child, passing over his chest and dragging him five feet along the pavement, according to police.

The child suffered one dislocated and two broken ribs and possible lung damage, police said.

Another twister was reported sighted by a private citizen about eight miles north of Naponee, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau station at Grand Island.

Patrol officials said that four cars were damaged and one trailer house was torn up and a house and barn were damaged by flying debris at Grant.

Lines were also reported to be down in the area.

The Grand Island bureau said the citizen reported that the tornado demolished a garage and tore the roof from a house.

The mayor said his decision to step down was not a result of recent liberal setbacks in Los Angeles, New York and Minneapolis.

U.S. Latin Military Programs Opposed

©The New York Times

Washington — Two ranking Senate Democrats, J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas and Frank Church of Idaho, called Tuesday for an early end to U.S. military programs and missions in Latin America.

Fulbright, who is chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and Church, chairman of its Western Hemisphere subcommittee, spoke during the firt day of hearnigs on U.S. military involvement in the Western Hemisphere.

Their pleas for an early cutback in the size and scope of U.S. arms sales and grant and loan programs to Latin governments and the training of Latin officers in U.S. military schools were supported by four private specialists, each with recent government experience.

These included Ralph Dugan, former ambassador to Chile and George C. Lodge, former assistant secretary of labor for international affairs and now a lecturer at the Harvard Business School.

The other two were David Bronheim, former deputy coordinator of the Alliance for Progress who is director of the Center for Inter American Relations, and Ben Stephansky, former ambassador to Bolivia, currently with the Ford Foundation.

All four criticized what Church listed as the four basic policy reasons advanced by successive administrations for maintaining military programs and missions in Latin America: hemisphere defense; internal security; exertion of U.S. influence on Latin American military establishments and maintaining the Latin arms market for U.S. manufacurers.

The specialists agreed, there is no single external threat to Latin America as distinct from the United States, that Communist policy in Latin America is neither a revolutionary force nor a major threat to U.S. interests; that younger Latin military officers are becoming increasingly advocates of social reform whereas the U.S. military presence in Latin America is widely disliked as intent on maintaining the status quo.

"U.S. military policies and programs in Latin America . . . have been disastrous from a political point of view," Dungan declared. "There is no shaking the prevailing Latin conception of the United States as a society dominated to a very large measure by the Pentagon."

Housing, Anti-Riot Plans Approved

Washington (UPI) — The House Tuesday voted without dissent to increase proposed spending to fight discrimination in housing and also added an anti-campus-rioting provision to a $14.9 billion money bill.

The measure, sent to the Senate, would provide money for the next fiscal year for the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Veterans Administration, the space agency and 15 other independent agencies. The bill was approved 388-6.

Repeated attempts by liberals to restore cuts made by the House Appropriations Committee in housing programs aimed at ghetto residents were defeated in non-record votes.

But the House, in an apparent off the floor agreement, increased the committee's proposal for spending on enforcement of the fair housing act without comment or dissent. The committee recommended $3 million for enforcement and this was boosted in an amendment sponsored by liberals to $5 million on a voice vote.

Also approved on a voice vote was a provision that colleges could not share in funds provided in the bill for student housing if they did not enforce the current law requiring a cutoff of aid to students convicted of rioting.

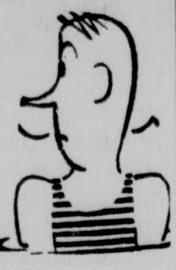
We flew to Athens Sunday on a celebrity party jet to see the opening of the first gambling casino here. Las Vegas dealers. American money pay-offs.



Yesterday the press agent phoned and said: "Because of its incredible success, Club Alexander has been sold."

I said: "Man, it's only three days old."

He said: "That's what makes it so incredible."

The economics of gambling houses is beyond me. My idea of incredible success would be to hit a jackpot. Just once.

☆ ☆ ☆

The golden summer of the golden tourists has arrived in Greece. From hot July through steamy August, tourists jam the hotels. Tan on island beaches. Swim in blue Aegean water.

They buy Greek dolls. Worry beads — you swing them on a string while you worry. Mink, stone martens and sables. Raw wool sweaters and embroiderd dresses.

If they do this enough, the Greek economy will struggle through another year. Life is hard in Greece. Every drachma counts.

☆ ☆ ☆

The buyer, said the press agent, — also Las Vegas — is a big American travel firm.

Just how you make money on this thing I don't know. If it is what they swear to heaven is so, it's the cheapest of all travel trips to Europe.

You pay $1,150. A week of all expenses in Greece and a round-trip from New York on one of Onassis's jet airplanes.

When you arrive in Athens, they give you back $1,000. In gambling chips.

Can you be a short sport — cash your $1,000? Thus getting a week in Europe for $150?

They say you can. Hope you won't.

☆ ☆ ☆

Anyway, here's to success wherever it may be. Las Vegas planted in Athens is a curious sight. (Greeks are not allowed in the casino. They stand outside glass doors, entranced with the swingers trying to make eight the hard way.)

European gaming houses are austere places. There's almost a library quiet. No rollicking dice tables with chanting dealers; "Any craps! Who wants any craps? Who wants the hard way?"

The dealer says quietly: "Place your bets, ladies and gentlemen." The wheel spins. The cards fall softly on green velvet. Payoff chips are dropped silently without a click.

The celebrity party turned out somewhat less than advertised. The big names just didn't make it.

But for Greece who cares. The Athens papers happily print the list as if everybody really was here.

Fran Nuyen was "seen" by a reporter last night in the casino.

The reporter says: "You will remember she is the star of 'I Spy' on Channel 11." Which may surprise Miss Nuyen if she gets a clipping.

☆ ☆ ☆

We took a look at the casino at midnight. Just after it was sold. No major changes. Didn't play. If the house was having incredible luck, I didn't want to break their run.

It's not big by Las Vegas standards. Can't compare with the glitter of The Strip houses. Three dice tables. A half a dozen "21" games. The slot machines — from Reno — are still on the high seas.

The Club Alexander is in the Hotel Acropole.

The question now, of course, is whether the American tourist will find it. If the casino is to make money, it needs more than an occasional charter flight.

The Acropole is second-class. One of those places you can say truly "where the tourist doesn't ordinarily go."

Proposal Giving Legislature Authority To Merge Power Districts Fails

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

A proposed constitutional amendment which would have given the Legislature clear authority to consolidate or merge public power districts fell four votes short of enactment and died on final reading Tuesday.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, a supporter of the proposal, changed his vote to nay for purposes of later reconsideration. That made the count 26-14.

The amendment, contained in LB353, withstood Sen. Richard Proud's kill attempt on a 16-26 vote before failing its final reading test.

Proposed constitutional amendments need 30 votes to win their way to a vote of the people.

Authored by Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland, the proposal would permit the Legislature, by special law, to create public corporations organized for the generation, transmission or sale of electricity.

Lawmakers would also be authorized to extend, change or amend power district charters.

Almost identical to an amendment rejected by the people in 1968, the new proposal would remove constitutional barriers against legislative merger of power agencies.

A 1965 consolidation law, which would have merged the operations of Consumers Public Power District, Loup River Public Power District and Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District, was invalidated by the State Supreme Court because of those constitutional limitations.

Proud said the people have already spoken on the issue through their rejection of the 1968 amendment.

LB353 is "contrary to the free enterprise system" and would open a major battle among power districts, the Omaha senator declared.

Merger could create "a super electrical utility," probably controlled by Consumers, he warned.

Holmquist said the amendment is needed if the people, through their Legislature, are to regain control of public power.

The alternative, he said, should be creation of a regulatory state power commission.

Opposition Told

Both Holmquist and Carpenter credited defeat of the 1968 amendment to the combined opposition of OPPD and the Omaha World-Herald. OPPD was acting out of what it considered to be self-preservation, Carpenter said.

Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha criticized OPPD for expansionist policies which, he said, must be paid for by the ciitzens of Omaha through their electric rate structure.

The vote on LB353:

For: Bloom, Budd, Burbach, Carstens, Clark, Danner, Elrod, Harsh, Holmquist, Johnson, Keyes, Knight, Kokes, Kremer, Mahoney, Marvel, Moulton, Orme, Swanson, Syas, Waldo, Waldron, Wallwey, Warner, Whitney, Wylie.

Against: Batchelder, Carpenter, Craft, Duis, Hanna, Klaver, Moylan, Nore, Proud, Reynolds, Schmit, Skarda, Stull, Wenzlatf.

Not Voting: Hasebroock, Kennedy, Luedtke, Robinson, Schreurs, Simpson, Ziebarth.

Excused: Pedersen, Wiltse.

School Aid Resolution Introduced

By United Press International

State Sen. Richard F. Proud of Omaha Tuesday introduced a resolution to put the Legislature on record neither approving nor disapproving "the principle of state aid to private education."

The Unicameral last week gave overwhelming preliminary approval to a proposed constitutional amendment to authorize state grants to parochial school students.

The grants would reimburse the students for part of their tuition.

If passed by the Legislature, the amendment would have to be approved by the voters in a referendum.

Proud was joined by 24 other senators in sponsoring the resolution which said that legislative passage of the amendment "shall not constitute approval or disapproval of the principle of state aid to private education."

On a 31-0 vote, the Legislature approved a resolution praising Lt. Gen. Guy N. Henninger, who retired May 31 as state selective service director. The resolution was introduced by Speaker Jerome Warner of Waverly. Henninger, a former Nebraska adjutant general, recently was admitted to practice law before the U.S. Supreme Court.

In another action, the Legislature voted 33-0 to pass a resolution asking the Legislative Council's executive board to create a study committee on the state telecommunications network.

The committee would look into development of the system and seek federal financing for it.

TB Detection Program Ending

Omaha (AP) — A tuberculosis testing program started in Nebraska almost 25 years ago ends June 30.

Health officials said other procedures would take the place of the mobile units which have visited nearly every Nebraska community.

The mobile units turned up two confirmed TB cases in 1967 and seven in 1966. Preliminary figures show two cases for 1968.

State Health officials believe that TB skin tests can be given more economically and more easily on a statewide basis than operating mobile units.

Millet Seeding Expected Soon

Sidney (AP) — Several thousand acres of millet are expected to be seeded in Cheyenne and adjoining counties during the next two or three weeks.

Cheyenne County Agent Ivan Liljegren said seeding conditions should be ideal for planting millet. The Panhandle millet plants are medium height with fair straw strength.

He said the Panhandle has consistently out-yielded all varieties of Prosso millet tested in Nebraska.

Proposal To Repeal Mill Levy Limits Will Be On Ballot

The Legislature Tuesday sent to the voters proposed constitutional amendments to repeal county mill levy limits and authorize the use of revenue bonds for construction of state educational facilities.

Four other proposed amendments won final reading approval. Thus far, eight proposals have fought their way to the 1970 general election ballot.

LB816, Sen. Terry Carpenter's proposal to repeal the constitutional ceiling on county proprey tax mill levies, won final 35-8 endorsement.

Voting no were Sens. Edward Danner of Omaha, Don Hanna Jr. of Brownlee, Lester Harsh of McCook, Herb Nore of Genoa, Elmer Wallwey of Emerson, Jerome Warner of Waverly, Theodore Wenzlaff of Sutton and William Wylie of Elgin.

Current Limits

County limits are now established at 14.28 mills, a figure which dozens of counties have either reached or are approaching.

LB810, the revenue bond proposal, also authored by Carpenter, would authorize the use of bonds by the University of Nebraska, state colleges and the State Board of Education.

State vocational technical schools at Milford and Sidney are governed by the board.

Under terms of the proposal, bonds could be used for construction of dormitories, other student or faculty housing facilities, student centers or athletic, medical or parking facilities.

Use of revenue bonds for new construction would first need legislative approval.

The proposed amendment also seeks to validate past revenue bond issues, which are now subject to considerable constitutional doubt.

LB810 was approved on a 42-0 vote.

Proposed amendments need 30 votes to reach the ballot. If submitted to a special election, they require approval of 40 senators.

Other Proposals

Other constitutional proposals approved by the lawmakers include:

—establishment of a Commission on Legislative Compensation, a seven-member body appointed by the governor to meet every two years to set legislative salaries and expenses.

—mandatory reapportionment of State Supreme Court judicial districts after each federal decennial census.

—elimination of the requirement that bills be read in full at final reading.

—authority for the Supreme Court to call retired Supreme Court or District Court judges to temporary active duty.

15 Bills

Altogether 15 bills were passed on final reading Tuesday. Some of the more noteworthy measures would:

—permit the impoundment of motor vehicles being used by minors while breaking the law against possession or transportation of alcoholic liquor.

—provide for state licensing and regulation of electricians.

—authorize out-of-state physicians and surgeons to receive temporary permits to practice in Nebraska up to three months — a measure designed to permit Nebraska doctors to recruit vacation relief.

—direct the State Aeronautics Department to dispose of the former Fairmont and Bruning airfields.

LB459 (Syas) — Submitting to voters in 1970 a constitutional amendment requiring redistricting of Supreme Court judicial districts after each federal decennial census. 42-0.

LB469 (Syas, Wenzlaff) — Authorizing Nebraskans to purchase, sell, trade, convey, deliver or transport rifles, shotguns, ammunition and accessories within limits of federal firearms control legislation. (E). 40-1.

Bill Requiring Rabies Shots For All Dogs Fails

By Associated Press

A bill requiring all dogs in Nebraska to receive regular rabies vaccination shots failed to pass on final reading in the Legislature Tuesday.

The vote on LB454, sponsored by Lincoln Sen. Fern Orme, was 20-21 with 25 required for passage.

Under the bill, all dogs would have been required to be vaccinated at least every three years, with annual vaccinations required with certain serums.

Local subdivisions would have been required to enforce the proposal. If they did not, the State Health Department would have stepped in to assure compliance.

In previous debate, opponents to the bill said it would be unworkable in rural areas, most dogs are vaccinated anyway and the cost would be excessive for some families.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Hannah Page Wheeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wheeler of Alexandria, Va., formerly of Lincoln, to Richard N. L. Andrews, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Nygal Andrews of Concord, Mass. The 2 o'clock double ring ceremony was solemnized by the bridegroom's father at historic Christ Church in Alexandria, on Saturday afternoon, June 7.

The bride's matrons of honor were her sister, Mrs. Jamil Namour of Eugene, Ore., frocked in pink, and Mrs. Stephen Woodbury of Boston, in yellow. Their costumes of silk organza over matching peau de soie were identically styled.

Paul Andrews, II, served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were John Andrews, also a brother of the bridegroom; Jules Bernard, III, and James Radford.

The bride chose a gown of white silk organza over peau de soie for her wedding, and from a matching coif kerchief her veil of illusion extended to the hem of her floor-length gown. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses, gardenias and stephanotis.

The bride was graduated from Lincoln High School and from Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio, and now is a graduate student at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Mr. Andrews is a graduate of Yale University and served with the Peace Corps in Nepal for two years. He also is a graduate student at the University of North Carolina.

Mr. Andrews and his bride will spend the summer in Albany, N.Y. where the bridegroom will be with the New York State Planning Commission.

TOWN TALK

Wonder what ever happened to that old theory that Lincoln was an exceedingly dull place in the summer. We'll admit that it probably hasn't been included on the itinerary of the Jet Set — yet, but dull? Never.

Lincoln has more than its share of interesting citizens, interesting guests and fun parties.

By the way — You may have seen — and heard— Dick Cavett on TV — Did you know that his parents reside in Lincoln — that his mother, Mrs. Alva B. Cavett is a member of the faculty at the University of Nebraska, and that his father teaches at Lincoln High School?

* * *

The guest angle we mentioned a moment ago involves some familiar names — Pfc. and Mrs. James L. Aitken, for example. Mr. and Mrs. Aitken arrive in Lincoln today from Ft. Lee, Virginia, for a visit with Mr. Aitken's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip I. Aitken.

And almost simultaneously the family circle will be joined at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aitken by their daughter, Mrs. Andrew Johnson and the foursome of young Johnsons — John, Beth, Julie and Mark of Western Springs, Ill. Mr. Johnson, we are told, will be arriving on Friday.

From Lincoln Mr. and Mrs. James Aitken will go to Minnesota for a brief stay at the Aitken summer home there, and then they go on to Ft. Lewis, Wash., from where Mr. Aitken will leave for Vietnam.

* * *

There will be many in Lincoln who remember Sarah Herminghaus — now Mrs. Russell Eggers. Mrs. Eggers and her three children, Katherine, Clare and David, arrived a few days ago from Princeton, N.J., and will be the guests of Mrs. Eggers' mother, Mrs. Martha Herminghaus, until mid-July.

But today Mrs. Herminghaus and the guest foursome took off for the Black Hills and its environs for a week's stay. It seems that the Eggers children are well acquainted with mountains (they resided in Switzerland for quite some time) and also well versed in the matter of lakes and oceans and the like — but ranch country, and the midwest plains are unfamiliar sights. And there you have the reason for the trip to the Black Hills.

Mr. Eggers, a vice-president of the Bendix Corp., toyed with the thought of joining his family here, but Italy, France, Latin America and South America keep him a little busy.

* * *

This evening Mr. and Mrs. Merle Hale will be a dinner host and hostess at the University Club when they entertain in farewell courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. E. Shelden Hallett who, as we have mentioned before, are leaving Lincoln to become residents of Scottsdale, Ariz. The guest list will include only the families.

Turning the calendar back for exactly one week we find that Mr. and Mrs. Hallett were on the go again — The party host and hostess last Wednesday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Kunkle who entertained a group of guests at their home.

* * *

Now on to Friday and the luncheon for which Mrs. Carl Yost will be hostess at her home in courtesy to Mrs. Hallett. The guest list will include the members of a bridge eightsome to which both the hostess and the honored guest belong.

MISS JOYCE BOHUSLAVSKY

The engagement of Miss Joyce Ann Bohuslavsky of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor L. Bohuslavsky of Dwight, to Kenneth E. Rezac, also of Lincoln, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Rezac of Brainard, is announced this morning by the bride-elect's parents.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, Oct. 18.

Courtesy

Guest of honor at a bridal courtesy which took place yesterday afternoon at the Lincoln Country Club was Miss Janice Marie Kopp, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. O. W. Kopp, whose marriage to Lawrence E. Rogers will be an event of Aug. 8. Hostess at the luncheon honoring Miss Kopp was Miss Sue Arbuthnot.

MORE FASHION NEWS

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

New York (UPI) — Patchwork, plaids and posies figure in the color explosion concocted for fall and winter clothes by the nation's pace-setting designers.

Even some evening togs bearing small car price tags are embroidered with sparkling stones in a patchwork pattern.

Fabric, pattern and color marks of the fashion season ahead documented themselves as bold and bright in shows for the nation's fashion scribes in New York for nine days of fashion, an event ending tomorrow.

Trends include:

—Knits in every form and pattern. Angora blends, lisle, interlock, sweaterknits, cableknits, loose airy crochet knits.

—Slick shiners. Cire, satin, black crepe, satin and shiny jersey.

—Plush piles. Corduroy novelties, velvets and fake furs.

—Tweeds, lusher and more dimensional than last season's donegals.

—Luxurious fabrics for evenings, Fabulous embroideries, lame, panne, rich tapestries, lavish brocades and printed velvets. Even sheers have rich textures and raised, flocked surfaces.

—Big, bold blanket plaids, herringbones and menswear glens. Argyle crops up in suits, sweaters. For evening it's beaded sugits, sweaters. For evening it's beaded-argyle.

—Gay gypsy prints in florals and paisleys compete with patchworks and art deco prints.

The shock color is Chinese red. Other big colors are parlor darks — spinach, indigo, deep reds, aubergine and black, of course.

For cocktail time, many designers favored pastels, frequently simple dresses with long sleeves, accented by a tiny band of rhinestones around the sleeve, hem, neckline.

By individual manufacturers here are some highlights of collections:

—Newcomer Dia Diodata, working with Stevens and Company's worumbo coachman cloth, did a series of shaped coats bound in leather of contrasting color.

She created an entirely new concept in an unstructured coat by using this double-woven woolen completely unlined. The result? A coat as easy as a sweater but yet meant for year-round wear, even in coldest weather.

—Lawrence of London, in a move to reduce prices, announced its new line will retail from $75 to $145. Mr. Lawrence, long known for his magnificent animal coats, again came up with a group of phony furs. One: a new Somali leopard worked in the round — in varied styles, single and double-breasted with lustrous leather-look notched collar. He also showed a two-in-one coat — a Somali leopard midi coat with skirt that zips onto the bottom, converting it into a maxi.

—David Crystal showed costumes with jackets, walking length or full length coats over dresses that echoed the coat's trim. Sample: a shirtdress coat in port red double knit over a port and white checked dress with wide port hem border. Also big in this collection: the sleeveless jacket, tunic length.

—Junior Sophisticates. "The longest look in the world" is how Tom Nasarre described his collection for this house. He gave the elongated look, big for fall with most designers, more emphasis by the low placing of belts and pockets.

Jackets extend down over fully pleated skirts. Low-slung dresses take jackets in great checks and plaids. Many costumes had longer jackets crafted in two tones to accent the longer look. The schoolgirl put-together, as the designer calls it, was composed of skirt, sleeveless overblouse or contrasting shirt of silk.

Eastborough
Maple Village
Southbrook Summit
in suburbia

As we borrow a line from a poet whose name we have forgotten, "How sweet the summer", we add a line of our own — "how quickly it passes." We needn't worry that the residents of suburbia will waste any precious moment of this vacation and recreation season.

In fact, today we have lots of travel and vacation news to mention — everything from a tour of Europe to a family gathering in Kearney — plus a birthday party in the Maple Village area all of which convinces us that not everyone is out of town.

We'll start with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Degenhart and family who made a trip to Miltonvale, Kan., for a family reunion which was held on Sunday, June 22, and Monday, June 23. Mr. and Mrs. Degenhart and children, Dan, 12, Joan, 11; Alice, 10; David, eight; Carol, seven; Richard, five, and Mary Pat, three, were the house guests of Mrs. Degenhart's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Richards while they were in Miltonvale.

Although the majority of the family returned to their Eastborough home on Monday evening, June 23, Alice remained in Miltonvale as a guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Richards.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Ruyle and children, Sherri, 10; Nanci, eight; Patricia, seven; Joan, five; and Robert Jr., three, left their Eastborough home last Sunday morning for a brief visit with Mr. Ruyle's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Clair Duensing, in Kansas City, Mo. Before returning to Lincoln Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Ruyle's children enjoyed visiting with their cousins, young Tim and Dan Duensing.

The European travelers we mentioned were Mr. and Mrs. James Slepicka who returned to their Maple Village home on Monday after a whirl-wind tour of seven European countries. Mr. and Mrs. Slepicka began their trip on Friday, June 6, and their schedule included visits to England, France, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Austria and Italy.

During their absence, their daughters, Pam, 12, and Jamie, eight, were the guests of their maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Fisher of Tobias. Mr. and Mrs. Slepicka's son, eleven-year-old Doug, traveled to Western where he was a guest of his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Slepicka, on their farm.

This morning Miss Theresa Kisling is the guest of honor at a party, given by her mother, Mrs. Russel L. Kisling, in observance of her fourth birthday anniversary. The guests will include 13 Maple Village area youngsters plus young Miss Kisling's five-year-old brother, Scott.

Southbrook Summit seems to have more than its share of news of vacationers and convention-goers this week. Traveling to Louisville, Ky., for the National Watershed Congress were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald L. Fleecs. Mr. and Mrs. Fleecs left Tuesday, June 3, and returned Friday, June 13. Following the meeting in Louisville, the travelers went to Nashville, Tenn., and visited the Ozarks.

While they were away Mr. and Mrs. Fleecs' children, Jeff, Jennifer and three-month-old Jay, were in the capable hands of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff McPherson of North Platte and Mrs. George Fleecs of Sutherland.

The other Southbrook Summit convention goers were Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Vosta who returned from Kearney on Sunday, after attending the Friday through Sunday convention for the Veterans of Foreign Wars members.

Abby: you are right

DEAR ABBY: I am in the NINTH GRADE, and our English teacher announced that if our term papers were not typed they would not be accepted!

Abby, how many ninth graders do you think know how to type? In our class only 5 out of 30 do.

Our teacher said if we couldn't type them ourselves we could have our mothers, or a friend type them for us. And if that wasn't possible, we could HIRE a professional typist to do it. Well, I inquired, and around here it costs anywhere from $1.25 to $1.50 a page for a professional typing job, and my term paper is 15 pages long, and I certainly can't afford that.

I can sympathize with the teacher, and I'm sure it's a lot easier on her if all the term papers are typed, but as long as they're written neatly and are legible, I think they should be acceptable. What do you think?

NO MILLIONAIRE

DEAR NO: Your teacher is going to hate me, but I think you're right.

DEAR ABBY: What do you mean telling that woman who complained because she had to iron seven pair of undershorts every week that it was "nothing?" It's easy to see that you don't do your own ironing.

If she had asked me, I'd have told her to buy her husband some shorts that don't need ironing. There are lots of underwear fabrics on the market that you can throw in the machine and they tumble dry and look like new. And if her husband STILL insisted on the old-fashioned kind that have to be ironed, I'd iron 'em all right — with plenty of STARCH. Sign me . . .

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	Pass	3 ♦	Pass
3 NT	Pass	6 ♦

Opening lead — ten of spades.

Some contracts seem utterly impossible to make, but, fortunately, the nature of the game is such that you can occasionally pull off some extraordinary coup and accomplish the impossible.

Consider this deal where South is in six diamonds. West leads a spade, which declarer wins in dummy with the queen.

There appears to be nothing at all to the play, but when declarer quite properly leads the ace of diamonds at trick two, East shows out and West seemingly has two sure trump tricks.

This is an unexpected and horrendous development, but if declarer does not panic he can still come up with the winning line of play. He can make the slam only if West has 4-3-4-2 distribution, so South should proceed on the basis that this is the case.

He cashes the A-K of hearts and ruffs a heart, then cashes the K-A of spades and ruffs a spade. All these plays are directed towards executing a trump endplay against West. When declarer next cashes the A-K of clubs, ending in dummy, this becomes the position:

North
♦ J 5
♣ 8

West
♦ K 10 8

East
Immaterial

South
♦ Q 9 6

South leads the eight of clubs from dummy, ruffing with the queen, and poor West finds himself in a terrible situation. If he overruffs, he must return the eight or ten of trumps — and with either play declarer makes the last two tricks with the jack and nine.

If West underruffs the queen, he comes to the same dead end because South leads a trump to the jack to bring home the slam.

Either way, one of West's trump tricks disappears into thin air.

Two Workers Injured In Clearing Derailment

. . . Mishap Occurred Near Stanton

Stanton (AP)—Two railroad workers were injured Tuesday in an accident which occurred while Chicago and North Western Railway crews were clearing away debris from a derailment of three diesel units and eight freight cars which occurred Monday night.

Hospitalized in Norfolk were Philip Lund, 21, and Terry Keith, 18, both of Fremont.

Lund was listed in guarded condition with head and leg injuries and Keith was reported in satisfactory condition with leg and body injuries.

Witnesses said the two were working near a bulldozer which was pulling twisted rails from the wreckage. Apparently one of the rails flipped and struck both men.

Conductor Hurt

Injured in the derailment was the conductor of the 25-car freight, M. R. Magnussen of Norfolk. He was treated by a physician for a cut under the right eye and other lacerations.

The track remained blocked Tuesday.

Winnebago Land Claim Settlement 'May Take Year'

Omaha (AP) — A spokesman for the Winnebago Indian Tribe said it will take about one year for the federal government to settle Winnebago land claims.

Gordon C. Beaver, chairman of the tribe in Nebraska, said the $4.6 million claim of the Nebraska and Wisconsin tribes will go to the Indian Claims Commission and then to Congress for appropriation.

He estimated the Nebraska tribe's portion as one-half of the amount appropriated and said it would be used for farm improvements and devolopments in education and recreation.

Beaver said payment would cancel claims to ancestral lands in Iowa and Minnesota they left when the government moved them to Nebraska.

LT. GEN. HENNINGER . . . receives award from Gen. Hershey,

Former State Draft Chief Praised

Retired State Selective Service Director Lt. Gen. Guy N. Henninger was lauded by his associates and other governmental officials, including the nation's Selective Service Director, Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, at a testimonial dinner Tuesday night.

Gen. Henninger, a former state adjutant general, retired as state Selective Service director May 31, a post he had held since 1940.

Gen. Hershey, in presenting a Selective Service distinguished service medal to Henninger, said it was a "fitting tribute to a man who has made the United States a better place to believe in."

Henninger was praised by the national draft head for "meritorious service and profound judgment and for ably guiding the Selective Service System through war and peacetime."

★ ★ ★ ★

Protesters Miss Hershey

Gen. Lewis B. Hershey drove unnoticed past a group of about 50 draft protesters who had planned on a "confrontation" with the national selective director Tuesday evening.

Informed Gen. Hershey had passed through the gates of the Lincoln Country Club to deliver a speech honoring retired Nebraska Selective Service Director Lt. Gen. Guy Henninger, some protesters started for the banquet room.

Police told them, however, they would be arrested for trespassing if they advanced beyond the main gate onto the private grounds. None stepped in, but several youngsters staged a 15-minute sit-in in one lane of the street entering the club as police stood by.

The protesters arrived at 6 p.m. in hopes of a confrontation with Gen. Hershey about the draft, according to a spokesman.

They waited on a grassy median in front of the main gate, but when Gen. Hershey passed them in a car, no one noticed. Police said he passed by the protesters and into the club at about 6:35 p.m.

Hershey is "brave enough to send people to war but not brave enough to face us," one youth yelled.

While waiting, the protesters handed out literature, sang a couple of songs, and held up anti-draft signs. They dispersed quietly one-by-one after a 90-minute stay.

Oxford (AP) — Funeral services will be held in Oxford Wednesday at 2 p.m. for Mrs. Beulah Huff, 78, who was injured fatally Sunday when a tornado struck her rural home.

Mrs. Huff died in an Oxford hospital after being injured when a twister upset the trailer house in which she lived with her son Roland

The victim's son was away from the trailer house at the time of the storm and was not injured.

Besides her son, Mrs. Huff is survived by three sisters.

Italian Expert Dies

Florence, Italy (UPI) — Prof. Giuseppe Maranini, one of Italy's leading constitutional experts, died at his home.

Bucher Family To Float Down Salmon River

Salmon, Idaho (UPI) — Navy Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher, who lost his spy ship to the North Koreans, will float down the middle fork of the Salmon River, the river of no return, it was learned Tuesday.

Bucher's ship, the Pueblo, was captured by the North Koreans and he and his crew were held nearly a year in a North Korean prison until their release was obtained by the U.S. government.

Don Smith, a river boatman and guide on the river, said arrangements have been made to take the Navy officer and his wife and two sons on a six-day trip beginning July 15 in the rugged Indian Creek area.

If you're young, you like the romance of the very old, coupled with the very new . . . that's only one reason so many girls climb the spiral staircase to SIMON'S ATTIC (up from sportswear, downtown). Another reason are the junior dresses like the two illustrated here, with the Tom Jones look; the satin print, $12, the laced front dusty rose crepe, with flip skirt, $26.

'A MILLION DEATHS LATER' . . .

Biafra's Leader Is Cheered And Trusted

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Lloyd Garrison, former senior correspondent in Africa for the New York Times, has made a number of visits to Biafra, where more than a million persons have died in two years. This is the third of six articles.)

By LLOYD GARRISON

Owerri, Biafra — at 6 a.m., it is just barely light, and Lt. Col. Chukwuemeka Odumegwu Ojukwu — whose family and friends call him "Emeka" — rises reluctantly. Biafra's 35-year-old leader is a night person and normally a late riser, but this morning he has a rendezvous to publicize the newly formed land army, Biafra's crash program to plant more crops.

His wife, Njideka, whom he courted when she was a law student in London, fetches him a glass of orange juice. Ojukwu pulls on fatigue pants, boots and a gray cotton sports shirt, downs the juice and tiptoes out of his secret headquarters without awakening the two children.

In a field five miles away about 100 Biafrans, most of them women and girls, are clearing the scrub brush for planting. There is a cheer as Ojukwu arrives and the women break into war chants as he joins in with his machete, slashing at the underbrush.

By 9 o'clock the photographers have stopped shouting for "just one more" and Ojukwu climbs into his Mercedes and drives off with his escort, a police car followed by an army land rover with a .50-caliber antiaircraft gun mounted on the back.

Movements Secret

There were no crowds when he drove out to the field; his movements are never publicized in advance, lest the Nigerians get wind of his route and mount an air strike. But now word has spread that Ojukwu is coming, and people flock to the roadside to cheer him, the women jumping up and down for a better glimpse, giggling like schoolgirls.

Ojukwu does not appear often in public and, unlike many African politicians, deliberately shuns political rallies and staged demonstrations.

There is no Ojukwu cult in Biafra and no campaign to encourage one. Biafran attitudes toward him reflect an emotional spectrum. Biafran infantrymen call themselves "Ojukwu soldiers." Civilians frequently observe: "He's a man you can trust."

Born Rich

This sense of the man's incorruptibility springs in part from the fact that Ojukwu was born rich and had the best upbringing money could buy (private schooling in Lagos and at Epsom, then at Oxford and Sandhurst).

Sir Odumegwu, Ojukwu's father, died three years ago; he had parlayed a rented pickup truck into a multimillion-dollar transport and real-estate empire.

Secession and the war have brought the family fortune into total ruin. But the belief persists that Ojukwu "doesn't care about money," which puts him several notches above the usual politician in the eyes of most Africans.

Ojukwu quite often appears to be brooding, detached and sometimes imperious (his aides always light his cigarettes in public). But all the evidence suggests that the average Biafran considers his own destiny to be entwined with Ojukwu's, and that this oneness is rooted in a sense of shared ordeal.

No One Escapes

No one in Biafra, high or low, has escaped sorrow and fear; everyone has been called upon to dredge deep in himself for hidden reservoirs of courage. Biafrans know that Ojukwu and his family run the risks they do in an air raid.

And Ojukwu is no deskbound commander. His first taste of combat was a vain attempt to rally the troops outside Biafra's capital, Enugu, which finally succumbed to the Nigerians under a hail of mortar fire; his second exposure to the enemy may well go down as the turning point in the war.

It was the end of September, Biafra's darkest hour. Refugees clogged the roads. The death toll from starvation soared to 6,000 a day. There was panic in the air. The Nigerians advanced to within artillery range of Uli airport, the last lifeline to the outside world.

Ojukwu was at the head of the battered remnants of the Fourth Commando Brigade when it relieved Uli and recaptured two oil wells, without which the Biafran army would have been paralyzed for lack of fuel.

Word Spread

That Ojukwu had put his life on the line was never publicized, but word spread quickly by bush telegraph.

It was known to everyone, for example, in the New Town tavern, a typical Biafran bar.

The tavern's doors open at 6 p.m. and it is soon jammed. The owner, Mrs. Sophie Obiakwe, presides.

She pours a round of drinks from a bottle labeled "Biafra Survival Gin." The label says it's just 80 proof. The label lies. The brew, which has a gin-like taste, was originally made as a painkiller for Biafran wounded at the front line. One sip and you can appreciate why.

A young barefoot soldier, happily drunk and waving a four-day pass, gropes in his pocket for money, but Mrs. Obiakwe refuses to accept it.

"To Ojukwu!" shouts a voice from the back of the room.

"Ojukwu!" roars the crowd, every Biafran rising from his chair. Someone starts humming a children's song about Ojukwu and soon everyone is singing along: "Holy, Holy, Holy, Ojukwu is our savior . . ."

Recognizes Danger

Ojukwu recognizes the danger inherent in that song — the danger of being thought of as something above the Biafran mainstream, Ojukwu the miracle man, a bearded black Moses parting the waters and leading Biafra into the promised land.

"The trouble is," he protests, "our attitude toward the state is still too personalized. You know how it often is in Africa. The man in power is the man of the hour. There's still the tendency to think that almighty God or Ojukwu or another country will pull us out of this fight.

"I try to point out that nobody here missed a meal to help the U.N. feed the starving in China or India. So why should other people help us now? And I've tried to say that independence is not one man getting up and declaring it, that freedom without substance is meaningless."

(Next: Ojukwu not part of plot.)

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

ROMJUE LEADS CITY GOLF

Double-Bogey Elates Bad Dreamer Jones

. . . GORDON TIED FOR SECOND

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Golfers are seldom happy about double-bogeys, but Gordon Jones was elated over one he scored in the first round of the Lincoln Men's City Golf Tournament at Pioneers Park Tuesday.

But he had another which he was not especially happy about as he finished with a two-over-par 73 to tie for second place, one stroke back of Larry Romjue, who was also hurt by a double-bogey.

The double-bogey which Jones was elated about came at the 420-yard, par-4 third hole at Pioneers with an out-of-bounds fence to the right.

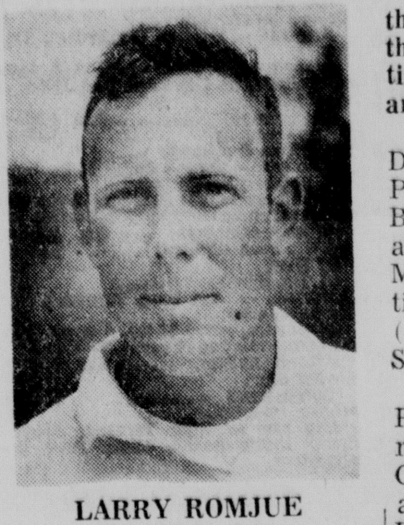
"I had dreamed for the last couple of nights about taking eights and nines on that hole," the former Lincoln Northeast golfer explained, "So I was happy when I got away with a double-bogey six.

"I wanted to keep it away from that out-of-bounds on the right, so I hit it way left and got into the trees."

But a seven-foot birdie putt on the 520-yard first hole and a 20-footer for a birdie at the 348-yard eighth allowed him to make the turn at even-par 36 and he went one-under-par with an eight-footer for a birdie at No. 10.

He missed a three-footer for a birdie on No. 11 and missed birdie putts of less than 10 feet at Nos. 12, 13 and 14 before lipping a three-foot par putt at No. 15 to go back to even par for the day.

But then he cranked one into a tree on the right side of the 18th fairway and had to take an unplayable lie, winding up with a double-bogey-6 for his 73 that tied him for seconr place with Tim Bateman and Dick Dosek.



LARRY ROMJUE

Romjue, the leader, had trouble with that same tree moments earlier, taking a double-bogey-6 from an unplayable lie beneath the tree to go from one-under-par to one over.

Romjue was two-under-par going to the 15th after hitting birdie putts of 20 feet at No. 1, 10 feet at No. 5, six feet at No. 6 and two-putting the 484-yard 11th for a bridie after reaching the green with a 4-wood second shot.

But he bogeyed the 15th, then took the double-bogey at the 18th to fall back into a tightly-bunched pack at 76 and under.

Tied for fifth place at 74 are Dan Harris, Chuck Smith, Paul Anderson and Marv Bradsby. Another stroke back at 75 are Mike Golter and Mike Ley while at 76 are two-time champion Emil Frank (1937, 1945), Ray Harr, Ed Smith and Jerry Trimble.

The golfers move to Holmes Park today for the second round, then to the Lincoln Country Club on Thursday and Hillcrest Country Club Friday.

Two unusual scores in first round play were turned in by Bob Seamark, who came back with a 38 after taking a 50 on the front side and Walt Bruning, who shot 53-39.

Winner's Circle To Show Ring

They say you can't teach an old dog new tricks, and that's also been said of a horse, but Lincolnite Dick Hudson does it.

His current prized protege is Dan Common, who gained fame a few years back as a race horse, and who is now being groomed into a show (no reference to betting) horse.

"It's quite a regular thing to take a race horse and make a show horse out of him," Hudson explains, "but Dan Common is the easiest I've ever worked with in making the conversion."

But Dan Common doesn't quite fit the mold of the race horse turned show horse routine.

"We hit the race track a lot," Hudson says, "looking for horses, who still have sound legs, but who just don't like to run."

Dan Common, however, was a horse who liked to run and who had to quit running because of sore legs.

The black gelding was purchased as a five-year-old by Arnold and Nellie Stumbaugh of Lincoln from Bill Stiles of Lincoln.

Trained by O. D. Kemling of Aurora, Dan Common won one of two starts at Fonner Park for the Stumbaughs and opened a four-out-of-four string at Ak-Sar-Ben as a 25-1 winning shot in 1964 before being injured at Columbus later that season.

The horse was retired after an unsuccessful comeback attempt the following year and stood in a pasture until Hudson bought him one day.

Going To Waste

"He was just going to waste out in that pasture," Dick observes, "and I thought his legs might be healed so I talked to Arnold and bought him."

One of the problems in converting a horse from racing to the art of walking, trotting and cantering is getting rid of the nervousness that is a basic characteristic of race horses.

"That's one of the things you have to watch for when you're looking for a race horse to make a show horse," Dick admits. "You've got to get one with a decent disposition.

"I think perhaps one of the reasons race horses tend to be nervous is that they're cooped up in a stall all the time. We give them more attention.

"Instead of breezing them around a track for 30 minutes as they do with race horses, we'll work with them for an hour and a half or so.

"A lot of times when we get a race horse, he'll pace the stall and chew on wood until we get him over his nervousness."

Must Be Ambidextrous

Another problem is breaking the race horse of his habit of turning left all the time.

"We have to get them to give us their mouth," Hudson explains. "They become used to having a jockey pulling against them all the time.

"And they have to learn to turn both ways. Race horses lead with their left leg because of turning left all the time. We have to get them to lead with both legs. We need them to be ambidextrous, not left-handed.

"Dan Common was easy to break of the left-handed habit, though."

While at the age of 13, Dan Common would be washed up as a race horse, Hudson feels a show horse is about hitting its prime at that age.

"We figure it'll be next summer before we have him trained the way we want him," he says. "Then we figure on getting another five years out of him."

'And Dan Common'

Hudson remembers Dan Common well as a race horse owned by the Stumbaughs.

"I remember they used to kid Arnold by calling him And Dan Common' because the horse always came from behind and when the track announcer would give the first call, it would always be 'And Dan Common.'

"I remember one time the horse coming from 20 lengths behind to win by six lengths."

Soon after Hudson began training the horse for shows, he took him to a show at the State Fairgrounds and told the gal he had working with his horses to take Dan Common out and warm him up.

"What I meant for her to do was take him out and get him ready to show, calm him down," Dick recalls. "But instead she took him out on the race track and he thought he was back in his old home. He was really riled up instead of getting calmed down."

Stumbaugh also keeps an interest in the horse. "He comes out every Sunday with four pounds of carrots and two rolls of lifesavers for that horse," Dick says with a chuckle. "After he gulps dowm the carrots, he gets five different kinds of lifesavers."

Phils' Allen Suspended After Missing Met Tilts

New York (AP) — Richie Allen, controversial first baseman of the Philadelphia Phillies, was suspended indefinitely without pay Tuesday night by Manager Bob Skinner.

Allen was suspended after he failed to show up at Shea Stadium for Tuesday night's twi-night doubleheader with the New York Mets.

Asked how long the suspension could last, Skinner replied:

"That's up to Mr. Allen. It depends on what he tells me. The game is too big for this type of thing."

The $80,000 a year infielder was with the club at the hotel earlier in the day. At first, it was believed he might have confused the starting time of the game.

Mets twi-night doubleheaders begin at 5 p.m., EDT. In Philadelphia, twi-night doubleheaders start at 6 p.m.

However, Allen still hadn't shown up at the stadium as the teams began play in the second game, but telephoned the club.

Pitcher Dick Farrell answered the telephone, but Skinner said when he got to the phone "it was dead."

Skinner said Allen had asked permission to come to New York Monday to see the Joe Frazier-Jerry Quarry heavyweight fight Monday night at Madison Square Garden.

This isn't the first time Allen has been in trouble with the Phils.

Earlier this season, he missed a team plane to St. Louis and failed t show up for two games. He sat out a game last year at Shea Stadium after he arrived late and was benched by Gene Mauch, then manager of the Phillies.

Every game Allen misses will cost him nearly $500.

Gonzales, Pasarell Capture Spotlight In Marathon Match

. . . RICHEY SCORES WIMBLEDON UPSET

Wimbledon, England (AP) — Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., pulled off one of the major upsets of the rain-delayed start of the annual Wimbledon tennis tournament Tuesday but all the talk of the 12,000 excited spectators was about the marathon between Pancho Gonzales and Charles Pasarell.

Pasarell took the first two sets of the All-American duel, 24-22, 6-1 when play had to be halted because of darkness. The score of the first set equalled the Wimbledon record set in 1963 when Nicki Pilic of Yugoslavia defeated Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy.

Richey, unseeded, ousted Bob Hewitt, South Africa's Australian-born Davis Cupper, 0-6, 6-4, 6-8, 6-2, 9-7. The upset was on a par with the 6-3, 6-2, 9-11, 6-4 setback handed Ray Moore, also of South Africa, by John Alexander, 18-year-old Australian.

Hewitt was seeded No. 14 and Moore No. 13. Their defeats highlighted a day of suspense and drama which brought Wimbledon to life after a first day blanked out by rain.

Mets, Orioles Keep Winning

By Associated Press

The New York Mets and the Baltimore Orioles continued their red-hot streaks in major league baseball Tuesday.

The Mets, moving at an .800 clip with 20 victories in 25 games, swept a twi-night doubleheader from Philadelphia 2-1 and 5-0.

Baltimore made it 12 triumphs in its last 14 starts, an .857 clip, by defeating Washington 6-3 in 11 innings.

The Mets climbed within 4½ games of the first place Chicago Cubs in the National League's East Division on Tom Seaver's seven-hitter and a two-hitter by Jim McAndrew and Rod Taylor against the Phils.

Baltimore, leading the American League's East Division by 10 lengths, downed the Senators on Frank Robinson's three-run homer in the 11th.

Another three-run homer, this one by Ron Santo in the third inning, gave the Cubs a 3-2 squeaker over Pittsburgh.

Bob Bailey hit two homers to lead Montreal over St. Louis 4-1 and Sandy Valdespino's three-run double that cleared the bases in the fourth gave Houston a 4-1 triumph over San Francisco. It was the eighth straight for the Astros.

Cleveland and Boston split a day-night twin bill. The Indians took the opener on Cap Peterson's three-run homer. The Red Sox won the nighter 6-1 with a five-run first inning.

Consecutive homers by Al Kaline and Willie Horton in the first inning and Denny McLain's seven-hitter gave Detroit a 2-1 victory over the New York Yankees.

The Chicago White Sox capitalized on two errors and a hit batsman for two runs in the eighth to beat Seattle 6-4 in the first game of a twi-night twin bill.

Harmon Killebrew's nub single brought home Ted Uhlaender from third and broke a 3-3 tie in the fifth inning and a squeeze bunt by Leo Cardenas added an insurance run in the sixth as the Minnesota Twins defeated California 5-3.

Sayers Would Like Namath To Remain In Pro Football

Chicago (AP) — Gale Sayers, Chicago Bear superstar, said Tuesday of Joe Namath, New York Jet superstar: "I think everybody would like him to stay in pro football."

However, Sayers also told The Associated Press: "What Joe wants to do is his business, but gambling is bad for the game."

Namath, presently at least, has retired from pro football rather than accede to an order from commissioner Pete Rozelle to divest his interest in a New York bar said to be patronized by gamblers.

Sayers, who faces a comeback trial after knee surgery in the midst of the last National Football League season, commented: If Joe doesn't sell, I don't think the commissioner will let him play."

Rozelle already has asserted that Namath faced suspension from pro football if he retained ownership in his restaurant-bar called Bachelors III.

"I can see Joe's side and I can see the commissioner's side," said Sayers, as exciting a ball carrier as Namath is a passer.

"This is just one man's opinion, but I can see the need for pro football players to be isolated from any gambling element.

"After the heat of a game, players say things that shouldn't be quoted or overheard by anybody outside their own squad.

"I think the aspect of gamblers frequenting Joe's place bothers most people.

"It's up to Joe to decide whether he should keep his business. I don't think the commissioner is going to back down.

"I think everybody would like to see Namath stay in pro football, but apparently he won't if he doesn't sell his place."

Bachelors III Declared Bad For Baseball

Cincinnati (AP) — National League President Warren C. Giles said Tuesday he has asked that all league players be notified it would "not be in the best interests of baseball" if they patronize Joe Namath's Bachelor III bar in New York.

He said, however, that "no penalty for doing so was indicated" in the communication to the various clubs.

Namath, star quarterback of the New York Jets of the American Football League, has been under fire for his connection with the tavern.

'Little Mo' Buried; Netters Mourn

Dallas, Tex. (AP) — Maureen "Little Mo" Connolly Brinker, 34, a former queen of the women's tennis world, was buried Tuesday. She died Saturday of cancer.

Flags flew at half staff Tuesday at Wimbledon, the tournament Mrs. Brinker won in 1953 as a 17-year-old superstar.

Mrs. Brinker, a native of San Diego, Calif., ruled the women's tennis world in the early 1950s and might have become the greatest woman player in history if a riding-accident hadn't ended her career.

Quarry Proves Point, Wins Battle, Loses War

By MILTON RICHMAN

New York (UPI) — Jerry Quarry came to prove a point.

He proved it. He proved it to himself, he proved it to Joe Frazier, and he proved it to 16,570 assorted boxing buffs at Madison Square Garden.

All it did was cost him the fight.

People laughed at him when he was beaten by Jimmy Ellis a year ago. They said Quarry had backed away from Ellis for most of the fight which he had, and they said he was no more a legitimate heavyweight contender for the title than Dustin Hoffman.

Maybe something like that doesn't mean much to you, but it means a great deal to Jerry Quarry. It got under his skin hearing it all of the time so that when he climbed back into the ring Monday in his eye-popping red mini-robe with the white piping he was looking to demolish Frazier all right but he was looking to prove his point even more.

He'd show 'em all—those who knocked him, Frazier and even Ellis sitting there at ringside — whether he was a letitimate contender or not.

Jerry Quarry never took a backward step all night but by the end of seven rounds his face looked like a rare hamburger without the onions and despite his plea to let him fight "just one more round" Dr. A. Harry Kleinman ended the contest.

"No . . . No . . . Don't stop it!" Quarry shouted, leaping from his stool toward the center of the ring when Arthur Mercante, the referee, signified it was all over.

Mercante shook his head sympathetically but wasn't about to change his mind. Not after having had a talk with the doctor.

Quarry appeared heartbroken and only a few minutes later when he talked to the press he unwittingly revealed how vital it had been for him to prove his point.

"I didn't win the fight but I sure as hell can say I tried," he mumbled, "and the first man who comes to me and says I won't get in the ring and fight can come and see me because I still got some left in me."

Okay, so Jerry Quarry proved his point. He won the battle and lost the war. Even Ellis could see that from where he was sitting.

"He didn't fight his fight," said Ellis, who won the WBA title by beating Quarry a year ago. "He took the first round and looked good. I think he should've gone back to his old style, start movin' more and makin' Frazier miss more. Don't just sit there and let the guy hit you all night. This what brought about the cut under his eye and got his nose all busted up."

Quarry, who comes from Bellflower, Calif., looked as if somebody had crushed all his petals when the bout was ended.

Frazier, on the other hand, had plenty of starch left in his collar.

The moment after the official announcement was made by Johnny Addie, Frazier looked straight at Ellis, who was standing up by now, and shouted at him:

"You're next."

Ellis, seeing dollar signs in front of his eyes, ate up the sudden challenge.

"You couldn't beat me," he shot back, climbing into the ring as Frazier's handlers pulled their man back.

Frazier started it all but he had the perfect match in Ellis, who knows how to shoot back himself. Ellis used to be a sparmate for Cassius Clay. He learned from the master.

When they asked Frazier later what he had said to Ellis, he replied:

"I just tell him he's no champ. He just sits around in the sun gettin' a tan. Why don't he fight?"

Ellis didn't hear Frazier when he said that to the press but he came into the interview room shortly thereafter and the remarks were relayed to him.

"If he thinks I'm not in good shape, he can put the gloves on with me right now. I'm ready."

So was Jerry Quarry. Maybe a little too ready. That was his big trouble.

Special Teal Season Set

Nebraska waterfowlers will once again be given the opportunity of a special season on teal this fall, according to Lloyd Vance, Chief of the Division of Game of the Nebraska Game Commission.

The season will extend throughout the Central and the Mississippi Flyways. Nebraska is in the Central Flyway.

The special season will last from Sept. 6-14, the bag limit will be four teal, and the possession limit will be eight birds. Shooting hours will be from sunrise to sunset.

Vance said that special permits of any sort will not be needed, but a teal shooter will need a valid hunting permit and a duck stamp.

He said that correct identification was most important in such a special season. Teal only are legal during this season.

Cutchin To Take Brokerage Post

Stillwater, Okla. (UPI) — Phil Cutchin, who was fired last winter after six seasons as head football coach at Oklahoma State University, plans to begin work with a Dallas brokerage firm next month.

Cutchin, 48, said he had accepted a job with Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Inc., beginning the second week in July.

It will be Cutchin's first non-coaching job, except for an Army stint during the Korean Conflict since he graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1947.

Before coming to Oklahoma State, Cutchin was an assistant coach under Paul Bryant for five years at Alabama, four at Texas A&M and one at Kentucky. He had coached previously at Ohio Wesleyan.

Scott's $165,000 Bonus Denied By Dallas GM

Dallas, Tex. (AP) — "I'd say that's fantastic,'' Max Williams, general manager of the Dallas Chapparals of the American Basketball Association said Tuesday to reports the club had paid a $165,000 bonus to Willie Scott.

Scott, the club's sixth-round draft choice, was paid a bonus, Williams said, "but it wasn't anywhere close to that."

Stock Market Gain Is Solid

New York (AP) — A sharp technical rally largely was credited Tuesday with helping the stock market stem its latest downward slide and carve out a solid gain.

"The rally got under way late Monday, and it helped the market cut its early sharp losses, although it still closed that day with a loss," an analyst said. "The action Tuesday was a continuation of that rally, and the fact that it held a good part of its gains all the way to the close might mean that it will gather momentum."

The advance, analysts said, largely was a result of the market's "extremely oversold condition" after five straight weeks of decline. The fall carried prices down to a level where they apparently were attractive to bargain hunters.

The Dow Jones industrial average, up 7.82 at 10:30 a.m. EDT, closed up 6.34 at 877.20. The 6.34 gain was the best for a session since May 2, when the DJI rose 7.95.

The Associated Press averake of 60 stocks gained 2.7 to close at 312.5, with industrials up 3.5, rails up 2.2, and utilites up .8. It was the first time the AP and Dow industrial averages had closed a session with a gain since June 18.

Gains led losses from the start and never were headed. Of 1,568 issues traded, 898 advanced, and 448 declined. The session was the first since May 29 in which there were more advancing than declining issues on the New York Stock Exchange.

There were 7 new highs for the year and 213 new lows.

Volume was 11.46 million shares, compared with 12.19 million Monday.

Blocks of 10,000 shares or more traded on the New York exchange totaled 62, against 61 Monday.

Conglomerates had a higher tone, with Loew's Theatres, National General, and White Consolidated Industries each gaining a point or more.

Steels mostly were fractionally higher. Motors were mixed, with General Motors up 1 and Ford off ⅛.

Aircrafts mostly were lower, although Boeing gained 1¼. Making gains of a point or more were Raytheon, Sperry Rand, International Telephone & Telegraph, and du Pont.

IBM jumped 10 to 325½. The company announced a dividend increase.

Xerox gained 3½. United Air Lines lost 1¼.

Prices generally were higher on the American Stock Exchange.

The Amex Index gained 22 cents to $27.94. Volume was 4.68 million shares, compared with 5.84 million Monday.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Causes Of Young People's Sense Of Frustration Eyed

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

MERRYLE RUKEYSER
Greatest Asset

The greatest wealth creating asset of a nation is the quality of its people.

In the circumstances, the widespread sense of frustration of young persons, as manifest in campus unrest around the world, should be objectively examined. There has been too much focusing of attention on how to react emotionally to unrest.

A more basic issue is why are young people dissatisfied, particularly in the United States where contemporary power-driven technology has come nearer than ever before in man's history toward achieving the philosopher's dream of widely diffused material wellbeing.

Why do some young people feel they're up against a stone wall at a time when the promise of achievement is so bright?

Even if — for the sake of argument — the frustration amidst affluence is in the nature of an emotional illness, it needs to be diagnosed, with the hope of relieving it.

Old Maxims Rejected

With the complexities of contemporary life and the shift of population from rural areas to overcrowded cities, there has been a rejection of the old maxims without replacement with new and meaningful ones. To put it bluntly, the cynical over sophistication which downgrades the promitive Horatio Alger Jr. type of glorification of self help has taken a bit of the steam out of the American dream.

In a boom period, there may have been overvaluation of slickness and deprecation of simple wholesome truth telling. Instead of concentrating on using new intellectual tools, such as streamlined accounting, to create popular understanding of the economic realities, some executives wasted corporate funds in hiring press agents to distort and bend facts in order to create a favorable image.

The genesis of the current troubles were discernible more than three decades ago. To meet the situation, this writer prepared three brochures in which he blueprinted techniques for using simplified accounting figures and understandable language to explain the productive modern enterprise to tens of millions of voters, savers, customers and others.

In the interim, corporate business has simplified and humanized its reports, and, despite unrest among young people, the change in methods has paid off in a vastly larger public participation in stock investments, in a decline of political business baiting, and in a tendency for Marxians to run under cover.

"Arm Twisting"

There has been disillusioning slickness in public affairs too. The country is reaping the effects of "arm twisting" by those skilled in manipulating governmental processes rather than in persuasion and assurance of government "by the consent of the governed." The loss of life in Vietnam, in an action not sanctioned by the constitutional provision whereby Congress declares war, adds to frustration.

Similarly in academic life, there has been senseless obsolescence as the naive deans and dons sought to preserve intact traditional "arts courses" in a rapidly changing world.

Likewise, the senseless run on the colleges, resulting in enrollment of large numbers not academically gifted, resulted in unduly large classes, with students thinking of themselves as mere numbers. Lazy personnel officials in business overrated the diploma and undervalued individual talents. Too many college professors, seeking promotion through application, neglected their obligations to teach.

Young idealists felt unable to make an impact on the real world. The faculty erred not only in not reminding that Rome wasn't built in a day, but also in not making clear that students should learn what makes the world tick before trying to refashion it.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped, self addressed envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be handled in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Cattle Prices Lower

Omaha (AP) — The attrition rate in slaughter cattle prices accelerated here Tuesday in a cautious and selective market. And the bearish grip finally encircled the heifer market.

Increased marketings at Omaha and around the circuit gave the buying side the leaverage it has been seeking to bring procurement costs more in line with carcass returns.

It added up to a 25-50 cent decline for slaughter steers, heifers shaped up mostly 25 cents lower. Trade on heifers remained more brisk than on steers.

Best beef steers here brought 34.35-34.50, a load each scaling 1,100-1,175 lbs. and grading high-choice to prime. Several shipments strictly high-choice to end prime 1,105-1,200 lbs. 34.25, bulk choice down to 32.50. Good and choice 32.00-32.75.

Heifer peak remained at 34.25. Only one load prime 1,042 lb. weights drew the ticket. Other well-finished 975-1,042 lbs. 33.50-33.85, choice down to 32.00, low-choice 31.50-32.00.

Limit of 21.50 held most beef cows, few on heiferette order 21.75-22.50. Boners 20.25 and under, mixed cutter-utility 20.50-21.00. Bulk top bulls 26.50.

Choice 950-1,025 lb. steers went as feeders at 31.25-32.00, good to low-choice these weights 30.00-31.00.

Increased marketings cut short the hog price rally. Butcher hog values turned 25-75 cents lower, bulk sales off 50 cents or more. Sows looked 50-75 cents lower.

Bulk 190-240 lb. butchers 26.00 and down, a part deck selected 218-223 lbs. topped at 26.25. Sows bunched at 20.50-23.10.

Spring lambs sold steady to 30.75 and down. Ewes trended firm.

Soybean, Wheat Futures Slump

Chicago (AP) — Wheat and soybeans futures prices sagged nearly 1½ cents on the Chicago Board of Trade Tuesday, but a late rally trimmed wheat losses by almost one-half.

Trade was relatively active, and most facets were noted on both sides of the activity, except that commercial participation was light. Hedging in the major pits was light also.

Liquidation of the nearby soybeans options countered buying of the new crop and the end products. However, some selling of soybeans was attributed to reports the 1969 crop has had a good growing start.

The liquidation of wheat futures followed a report that Canada intended to compete strongly for the sale of wheat to Argentina, where the 1969 crop has not come up to expectations.

At the close, wheat was ¼ to ⅝ cent a bushel lower, July 1.29¼; corn was ⅛ to ¼ lower, oats were ½ to ⅝ lower, July 61⅝; rye was unchanged to ½ lower, July 1.17¾; and soybeans were ⅜ to 1⅜ lower, July 2.64⅞.

National Forests, Grasslands Have Fireworks Ban

Denver — The 16 National Forests and seven National Grasslands of Colorado, Wyoming, Kansas, Nebraska, and South Dakota have been closed to the discharge of any kind of fireworks.

Regional Forester D. S. Nordwall said fireworks constitute a major fire hazard in the forests and grasslands. He cited an 1,800-acre fire near Trinidad last year that was caused by careless use of fireworks.

"We are in danger of being lulled into a false sense of security because of unusual precipitation this spring," take many hours of sunlight to cure grass, making it highly flammable. Smoldering bits of fireworks go unnoticed in grass and leaves."

Lakeview Bay Visitor Missing

Ogallala (AP) — A search was being conducted at Lake McConaughy's Lakeview Bay for Dean Stanbery, 44, of San Francisco who was visiting here.

Keith County Sheriff Louis Trujillo said Stansbery was last seen Saturday evening after a severe rainstorm hit the lake area.

Stansbery had been fishing with two companions and his boat was found tied up at Lakeview Bay. Sheriff Trujillo said one of the men told him Stansbery was still in the boat when they left him.

Angus Tour Set

Valentine — The annual Cherry County Angus tour is scheduled for Aug. 18 and 19, according to Bill Gaskins of Merriman. The group plans to hold its annual fall Angus feeder calf and yearling sale at the Valentine Livestock Market here Oct. 28.

Baker To Speak At Idaho Clinic

Dr. Frank H. Baker, chairman of the University of Nebraska Animal Science Department, will be the keynote speaker at the sixth National Polled Hereford "Pattern for Progress" Clinic July 10-11 on the campus of the University of Idaho, Moscow, Idaho.

Dr. Baker, a nationally recognized authority on beef cattle, is widely known for his work in beef cattle research and beef cattle improvement programs. He is currently secretary of the nationally constituted Beef Improvement Federation.

Boat Explosion, Fire Are Probed; 8 Escape Injury

Ogallala (UPI) — Investigation was still underway into the cause of an explosion and fire on a boat at nearby Lake McConaughy which jeopardized the lives of eight.

The boat was piloted by Henry Glisner of Ft. Collins, Colo. Also in the boat were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Glistner of Lincoln and their daughter, along with her four children, ranging in ages from 10 to 1.

A conservation officer from the State Game Commission said, "I heard an explosion, and as I turned to go back, I saw the boat was completely on fire. All eight persons jumped into the water.

"They were picked up by my boat and two other nearby boats."

The others helping in the rescue were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Keller of North Platte, Warren Meeks of Taylor, Neb., and Ben Boerger of Rose, Neb.

The boat sank into the Lakeview Bay after it burned. No injuries were reported.

Swanson Named Head Of Rail Unit

The State Railway Commission Monday voted to elevate John W. Swanson of Eustis to chairman effective July 1.

Swanson, a Republican, will take over the post from James F. Munnelly of Omaha. Munnelly, a Democrat, has been chairman only since January.

State law requires the commission to officially reorganize following the election of a new commissioner every two years.

With the election to the commission of Republican Eric C. Rasmussen of Fairmont last November, Munnelly was picked as chairman for what has turned out to be only a six-month period.

Omahan Escapes Jail Work Detail

A 28-year-old Omaha man being held in the county-city jail for auto theft escaped Tuesday from a work detail at the city-county pistol firing range.

Lancaster County Sheriff Merle Karnopp identified the prisoner as John Harper, who has pleaded innocent to auto theft and is awaiting trial. He said he is also wanted for robbery in Douglas County.

Harper is described as six feet two inches tall and weighing 230 pounds.

State Technical Assistance Office Involved In Study

Nebraska's technical assistance agency has been chosen to take part in a nationwide study of state economic opportunity offices, State Technical Assistance Director Sam Cornelius reported Tuesday.

The purpose of the study is not to evaluate individual assistance agencies, Cornelius said, but to "identify and review the overall contributions and problems of assistance agencies in the anti-poverty program to date."

A major objective is to determine recommendations on how the federal Office of Economic Opportunity can use state government to generate resources for anti-poverty programs, he said.

Among the criteria used to select the 21 state offices for the study was effectiveness in providing technical assistance, achievement in the mobilization of state agency resources and innovative approaches and activities, Cornelius said.

The study will be conducted by the Midwest Research Institute located in Kansas City, Mo.
